[illegible] Mayor Harper.

(From the N. Y. Evening Mail, March 30.)

James Harper, ex-Mayor of this city, and senior member of the great publishing firm of Harper & Brothers, died on Saturday evening at St. Luke's Hospital. Only a few days since we saw him in the enjoyment of his usual robust health; as vigorous, well-preserved and full of animal spirits as any man of seventy-four whom we ever met. Last Thursday evening while driving with his daughter in Central Park, the pole of his carriage broke, the horses ran and Mr Harper, with his daughter, was violently thrown on the ground. He was taken insensible to St Luke's Hospital, and until his death was utterly unconscious of external occurrences.

Thus, by a most unexpected and distressing casualty, was removed in the full vigor of his activity a business man whose name has stood for nearly half a century at the head of the most successful publishing house in America. Born at Newton, Long Island, in 1795, Mr. Harper came to this city nearly sixty years ago, was apprenticed to the printers' craft, and soon worked his way—through industry, enterprise, and economy to an independent business of his own, in which he was joined in a few months by his junior brother, John. Before either he or his brother had reached the age of twenty-five, the imprint of J. & J. Harper had become familiarly known in the book-trade and by the public.

In 1825 the younger brothers, Wesley and Fletcher, were taken into the firm and completed the partnership of Harper & Brothers, which has continued unaltered and unbroken until the sad casualty of last week. How these brothers have worked together for near half a century without controversy and without trouble; how the peculiar characteristics of each have [illegible] to the [illegible] success of [illegible] Harper & Brothers [illegible] old over as synonymous [illegible] with unblemished [illegible], and with the [illegible] scientific [illegible] of the [illegible] of the [illegible] generation [illegible] The harmonious and [illegible] co-operation of four brothers for so long a time, in a business so vast and so [illegible] ful, has [illegible] of itself a most [illegible]. It is none the less [illegible] that the second generation have [illegible] in the [illegible] under the direct supervision of the "Brothers," and that the [illegible] likely to perpetuate the [illegible] harmony of the house.

But one [illegible] has varied the otherwise [illegible] ful career of the house, and that was turned into a benefit by the enterprise and pluck of the brothers. In 1853 the nine buildings of Cliff street occupied by the Harpers were totally destroyed by fire, involving a loss of $1,000,000, of which but $[illegible],000 was covered by insurance. The disaster only threw the brothers on their resources, and they took that occasion to build and complete their present immense building, which is as safe from fire as iron and brick and cement can make it.

James Harper—"the Mayor," as he was [illegible] by all who were familiar with him—[illegible] long life a [illegible] systematic, and [illegible] business man. Self-reliant [illegible] in his own resources and in those of his younger brothers, he accomplished so [illegible] so quietly and so easily that those who only met him casually and always found him with leisure to attend to every caller and exchange a humorous story or a [illegible], could hardly comprehend the [illegible] activity. His fund of humor was unfailing. No matter how much bore on his mind he was always ready to relax and [illegible]. This faculty doubtless had much to do with the [illegible] of his physical vigor long past the time when most men retire from full activity. Up to the day of that fatal casualty his [illegible] showed no signs of failing strength. His eye was undimmed, his [illegible] and his head was almost free from gray hairs, and his contagious laugh was as full and hearty as it ever had been.

Mainly a business man, on one occasion [illegible] him, and he [illegible] made Mayor without effort of his own. For sixty [illegible] of the Methodist Church, he was always counted by its prominent men as an [illegible], and always gave to church and reformatory movements his aid and encouragement. [illegible] he was chiefly known in [illegible] and by a large circle of [illegible] and friends, and known by all as a man of unfailing, generous, and informal hospitality. He leaves a large vacancy in the [illegible] world and in the social circle, which [illegible] be filled [illegible]

G[illegible] Phil Kearney.—We are informed by a [illegible] lawyer of this city, that while [illegible] in Amboy last night, he passed a [illegible] in company with a former rebel [illegible], who was attached to Stonewall Jackson's division of the Confederate army during the war, and who related an interesting reminiscence of the death of Gen'l Kearney, of which event he was an eye witness: "The gallant Kearney," he said, "received his death wound from a private in my command, and when he fell from his horse, I [illegible], with many others, to the point where he lay, not supposing his wound was [illegible] one. Just as we reached his body, however, his limbs gave one convulsive quiver, and then all was over. Seeing that he [illegible], word was sent the headquarters to that effect, and General Jackson coming to the spot immediately gave one glance at the dead officer's features, and exclaimed, 'My God, boys, do you know whom you have killed? You have shot the most gallant officer in the United States army. This is Phil Kearney, who lost his arm in the Mexican war.' He then voluntarily lifted his hat, every officer in the group following his example, and for [illegible] a reverential silence was observed by all. Subsequently the body of the dead soldier was placed upon two boards, and when being removed to headquarters, was followed by General Jackson, General Ewell, and other officers, while a regimental band preceded it, playing a dead march."—Newark (N. J.) Courier.

The mammoth festival on Boston Common [illegible] to be no longer a problem, but an assured promise. Money, it is said, pours in by millions, and whatever the music may be, it is certain to be a mighty noise, and crowds of enthusiastic spectators, and a memorable celebration altogether. The exercises are to be held in an iron ampitheater, to be erected for the purpose. The festival proper will last about a week, but the building will stand at least a month, and be used during that time for monster concerts, oratorios, and similar decorous jollifications. The middle of June is the time fixed for the [illegible]

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs, successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, blotted and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of [illegible] or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies [illegible] they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, who [illegible] made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases [illegible] cury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing on the public by using the names of eminent physicians in Europe and other places. Be therefore careful [illegible] strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse, solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost [illegible], producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confusion of ideas, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are [illegible] under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to every patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and [illegible] who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the [illegible]. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose [illegible] to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and being too lazy to work at their trades. Some are ex-jumpers, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid [illegible] ion is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.

It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the Patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

E. B MOORE, NATHANIEL BELL,
A. L. WALLACK, G. R. WARD,
Mrs. MONTGOMERY, JOHN M. HOLLOWAY,
W. D. PORTER, ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others in that vicinity.

Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a [illegible] ence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from [illegible] absorbed into the system! Look at their [illegible] ted and disfigured faces and their broken-down [illegible] tions, disqualifying them for the happiness of [illegible] or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid [illegible] sands suffer until death closes the scene. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their [illegible] in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians [illegible] Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of [illegible] This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is [illegible] by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited [illegible] producing, with unerring certainty, the following [illegible] of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by [illegible] ical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots [illegible] the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, [illegible] the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, [illegible] blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new [illegible] a disposition to shun society, loss of [illegible] flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the [illegible] furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, [illegible] sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the [illegible] Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and being too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office [illegible] etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. [illegible]ATURDAY MORNING APRIL [illegible] 1869

Accounted For

In speaking of the inferiority of Democratic journalism we gave a terrible shock to the tender sensibilities of our neighbor of the Herald. He agonizes over it in a wailing article a column and a half in length, and while virtually admitting the superiority of Republican newspapers he accounts for it by charging in substance that Radical editors are diligent readers and turn to use the things found in literature while Democratic editors disdain reading and rely entirely upon the resources of their own intellects. Now this certainly, is a most terrible accusation against "Radical editors." It is an argument against Radicalism and in favor of Democracy equal to Nasby's best. By their habit of reading, Radical editors acquire ideas, obtain illustrations, avail themselves of the wisdom of great writers, get a knowledge of the relations of the past and the present and obtain an insight into the philosophy of great social and political movements. The result is seen in such specimens of journalism as Harpers' Weekly and the Chicago Tribune. But "it is not so," we quote from the Herald—"with Democratic journals. Each one of them looks at a question from its own stand-point, and each one gives its own views upon the subject. Therefore a journal which stands upon its own merits will not make, to the casual observer, the same show of ability which another exhibits, which is virtually edited by the combined talent of the Radical party of the nation." This is good, decidedly. The result of this sublime reliance upon the unassisted Democratic intellect is seen in such specimens of journalism as the La Crosse Democrat, the New York Day Book, that powerful Missouri journal, the Unterrified Democrat, and the Polk County Signal. Of course it must be admitted that Democratic journalism is mainly original. How else could we account for such specimens of literature as we find in Brick Pomeroy's paper? This charge that "Radical" editors are a reading class is the most terrible attack which the Herald has ever made upon its opponents. What simpletons they are to go to old fogy authors like Burke, Johnson, or Alison, among the British, and to Irving and Marshall among American writers, as authorities, or to draw illustrations from noted writers of current literature, instead of following the example of the Herald and its brethren of the Democratic press, who boast that they rely exclusively on their own [illegible] intellectual powers! It is said that [illegible] Beriah of the Salem Press takes pride in avowing that he has not read a book in thirty years, and that all his greatness is due to his own unassisted genius, but we were hardly prepared to hear from the editor of the Herald, who we believe has been a [illegible] and has therefore had opportunity to read the "Schoolmaster's Assistant" and possibly one or two other books in [illegible], that this is a general rule among Democratic editors. It seems that [illegible]rance and self-sufficiency, which are but other names for ignorance, are the only qualities deemed necessary for a Democratic editor. [illegible] of them seem to have started out like Mike Lambourne, in Kenilworth, who found his "original stock of assurance too small to trade upon, so he was fain to take in a ton or two more of brass at every port where he touched in the voyage of life; and he started overboard what modesty and scruple he had remaining in order to make room for the stowage." But our recollection is that Mike's career was not, after all, an eminently [illegible] one.

[illegible] Poetry.

It is stated upon authority that may be [illegible] reliable, that the public are soon to be [illegible] with a volume of poems from the pen of C. H. Miller, of Canyon City. The forthcoming book is to contain a number of occasional pieces, but its principal feature will be a poem of over three thousand lines,—the first literary production of such magnitude which has been attempted west of the Rocky Mountains.

It has been ordained that the Pacific Coast shall be the home of the poets of North America. The influences that bring man into the most [illegible] relations with all that is inspiring in nature are continually felt by every [illegible] here, who has any poetry in his soul. The beautiful, the romantic, the sublime in scenery—the fancies and traditions of the wild men, whose sad destiny is soon to be an accomplished fact—the struggle between man and fate, in which the Christian and the Pagan, and all kindreds and races of men take part in common—the drama of life in its most thoroughly original phases—pass before the eye in a succession of views so varied and vast that only the artist and poet see anything but endless disorder and confusion. To these children of genius every object and every event in this endless maze, has its place and its meaning; everything has its orbit and keeps it with the precision of machinery, and the [illegible] of strife and discord have an undertone as harmonious as the music of the spheres. And the whole scene is a portraiture of the sentiments and passions, the conflicts, triumphs and disappointments, that sway human destiny.

California first caught the inspiration and the world has seen her works of art and admired them for a while—has heard her songs and returned its meed of momentary applause and Oregon has produced a few gems worthy to be noted as promises of better things. Yet from all this abundance of material there has been nothing wrought which is certain to outlive the hand that produced it, unless it be in the volume now about to be given to the literary world by Judge Miller.

The author of this poem is a lawyer by profession, and has been for some time on the bench in the interior of the State. He has lived in Oregon from his childhood, with the exception of a short time he lived in California. He has spent his life, thus far, sometimes in the society of books, much in that of nature, and has evidently a vein of genius in his intellectual make-up. Of this there is evidence in some fugitive pieces contributed by him to the newspaper press heretofore, and there is somewhat of the ring of the true metal in the modest little volume printed about a year ago with the unpretending title "Specimen," and containing only two pieces christened respectively "Louis Ellah" and "Shadows."

The first of these is a tale of Indian life the scene of which is placed in Southern Oregon—Rogue River valley—and the occasion is a war between the Indians and the infant settlements of the whites. It is not the design of this article to review this poem after the manner of the critics; if it were, the review would probably amount to about this: The tale has a plot and a heroine with drama enough to work the plot out and give the heroine a chance to exhibit herself [illegible] advantage as the circumstances will permit, and the plot and heroine are [illegible] by a greater or less number [illegible]. The plot is just that much more than [illegible] poems usually possess, but it adds greatly to the interest and is not absolutely forbidden by the rules, for have not "Bitter Sweet" and "Miles Standish's Courtship" each a plot? If the plot in "Louis Ellah" [illegible] [illegible] on any account [illegible] [illegible] eclipses this [illegible] one and thus mars the symmetry of the [illegible] gives it the appearance of having [illegible] of the end in contemplating the [illegible] the means. The character of Louis Ellah is not sustained as a heroine [illegible] is well got up and comes upon the [illegible] good costume, but she [illegible] ently and never looks [illegible] appearance. But this [illegible] construction is not inconsistent with the good poetry. There are many passages in "Louis Ellah" that are [illegible] and excepting some slight [illegible] the matter of taste, there have been few [illegible] better performances upon [illegible] the noble red man, first [illegible] subject of song.

The war is about to begin [illegible] the braves is called and the wary warriors meet in a defile so deep and narrow that nothing could reach them from without unless it were a star dropped from the sky, and here the situation is discussed in much better style—more truthful to Indian nature than the bombastic trash which we are accustomed to read for Indian eloquence. Here is the promiscuous gathering [illegible] that deserves a place in the literary gallery of our country:

Some were gray and thin [illegible]
And wise in their [illegible]
Some were young and rude and [illegible]
Some were lordly and grand as kings

Flamed the council fire brighter
Flashed black eyes like diamond beads
As [illegible]
And a warrior told his deeds

Slowly rose one from the circle
Like a mast from out the sea—
King [illegible] stamped [illegible] every muscle
Chief of all the braves was he

Women melted from the circle
Boys crept backward out of sight
Till sleep a wall of warriors
Sat reflecting back the light.

Then was lit the pipe of council
That their fathers [illegible] of old
With its stem of manzanita
And its bowl of quartz and gold

Then from lip to lip in silence
Borne it round the circle red
Like a meteor of midnight
Prophesying war and dread

Possibly "quartz and gold" may not be considered the proper material for the Indian pipe of council, at least not till some person uses it whom the critics are afraid of,—after which the propriety of this selection will be so manifest that everybody will wonder why any writer should pick up common clay to make Indian pipes of when gold bearing quartz is to be found in such abundance.

Another passage in this extract merits particular attention. "A wall of warriors sat reflecting back the light." Nothing is hazarded in pronouncing this one of the handsomest things in American poetry. Think of a council of warriors sitting around their fire of pine wood with the fires of hate, revenge and high resolve burning in their bosoms more fiercely than the blazing fagots around which they are gathered, a wall in firmness and unity of resolve, and their dark faces shining with unnatural radiance. These are the savages one sees on the Western frontier—not those he finds only in gilt edged duodecimos.

But while the pipe goes round, the mutterings of distant thunder are heard, portending a storm. True to Indian instinct the chief recognizes in the deep low tones a voice from the land of the departed, urging him to deeds of valor, and this he turns to good account in arousing his braves to a point of determination equal to the emergency:

"Tis the spirits of my fathers
Muttering vengeance in the skies,
And the gleaming of the lightning
Is the anger of their eyes."

Cried their chieftain now uprising
Naked all above the waist
While a belt of shells and silver
Held his [illegible] to its place,

"O my fathers in the storm cloud
With his arms tossed to the gloom
While the very walls of granite
Seemed to shrink to give him room,

"Soon we come in smoke and battle
O'er the shadows you have crossed,
Speak for hunting grounds there for us
Those you left us we have lost

"Yes we come, O angry fathers,
But our journey to that shore
Shall be lit with flaming cities
And be slippery, red with gore."

"Warriors," and his arms were folded
On his tawny swelling breast
While his voice fell low and plaintive
As the waves in their unrest

"Where is Wrotto, wise of council
But yesterday here in his place?
A brave lies dead down in the valley
And a ghost sits on his face.

"Where his boy, the tender hearted"
He kissed his mother yestermorn
Now his ghost sits here among us
And his mother mourns forlorn

"Once like pines around a mountain
[illegible] my braves in council reach
Now I call you in a whisper
And my voice is heard by each

* * * * * *

"O thy mother, up in cloud land,
His arms dashed like the tossing spray,
What the flint-heads to my arrows
Make my heart as hard as they

"Warriors, beaten, I cry for vengeance
And all the red ghosts near and far,
Fathers of you here assembled,
Wail with me and cry for war

The allusion in the above to the custom of the Indian women preparing the arrow heads for the warriors and carrying the same custom into the hunting grounds of paradise is exceedingly fine.

These extracts are specimens of this "Specimen." It is sustained to the close and ends tragically but well. The piece contains nearly a thousand lines.

Of "Shadows" we shall say less for want of space, but it merits more. Its name is a true index of its character and nothing short of a close study of it enables one to lift the shadowy veil thrown over the plan of its construction. In some respects it is superior to "Louis Ellah." The author has evidently bestowed more care upon its composition. Indeed the first impression one has upon reading this piece is that it is the germ of something the author has in mind to be developed at another time. One cannot read it without feeling that there is more in it than he has been able to draw out.

It is fair to conclude from these two specimens, that Judge Miller cares less for the art of making a poem than for the poetry of which it is to be made. He is the poet of nature rather than of the schools and declines to join the critics in reversing the old [illegible] maxim Poeta nascitur non fit.

The Chief of Police in St. Louis has a letter before him from an indignant wife in Illinois. It is dated January 28th and begins as follows: "To the Chief of Police St. Louis. Respected [illegible] I am riting To you for information [illegible] my husband I received a letter direct[illegible] him from St Lewis from Some woman that R[illegible] to him calling him dear husband I wish you would go to the house and learn what Right she has Calling my Husband Hers."

What is the difference between a civilized diner and a person who subsists at the North Pole? One has his bill of fare and the other has his fill of bear.

Small Notes

[illegible] has [illegible] have [illegible] be best and [illegible] that we have [illegible] ears aroused by the President's remarks [illegible] during his few days of Ex[illegible] The [illegible] from the fact that the writ[illegible] hope [illegible]

[illegible] the Senate to participate in making [illegible] which were only [illegible]

The proposed suffrage amendment has [illegible] ratified by thirteen States [illegible] Kansas, Nevada, Louisiana, Missouri, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, West Virginia, Maine, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Arkansas. There may be others not enumerated in this list which have ratified. The [illegible] for the success of this amendment than for either of the two immediately preceding it at the time they were proposed by Congress.

The Herald is reduced to Beriah's stale expedient of asserting that the editorial columns of the OREGONIAN are used as a medium through which a high judicial functionary delivers his [illegible] to the public. Now we are [illegible] the Federal Judge, who appears to give the [illegible] publicly exposed the falsity of this [illegible] when it was made by Beriah Brown. If the present editor of the Herald would go some where [illegible] stuffed, perhaps that paper would not be the insane thing it is. Any sort of stuffing would be an improvement. Tan bark chips or sawdust would be the most natural provender.

As we predicted some time ago there has been a great reduction of the public debt during the months of February and March. There will also be a large reduction during the month of April. The reduction for May will not be so large and perhaps may be nothing at all as a large amount of interest falls due in that month. The reduction during the last two months has been over $31,000,000. The amount of railroad bonds issued during the same time is $4,608,320, of which $2,748,320 were issued during the month of March. The American people having at last secured harmony in the Government will now demonstrate their ability to pay off the whole debt within a few years. We shall see whether those who have been croaking heretofore about the monthly increase of the debt will take the same pains to print the figures which show its diminution as they have to give prominence to statements which have shown its increase.

It is rumored that the Fifteenth Amendment is ratified, and the naturalization laws are changed as they will be upon its adoption, that the Radical party for the purpose of securing the Chinese vote will nominate Dr Jim as the candidate for Governor to succeed George L Woods. We are told that the OREGONIAN favors this movement.—Herald.

The OREGONIAN will favor this movement if the Democracy will nominate either Chapman or Stout to run against Dr Jim, providing of course that they do not nominate Dr Jim themselves to catch the Chinese vote. The Celestial Doctor could undoubtedly vanquish Stout or Chapman on the stump quite as effectually and handsomely as he beat them last fall in his letters on the Chinese tax bill.

Land Office Matters

We are indebted to Senator Corbett for the following:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
General Land Office,
March 12th, 1869.

SIR: Referring to the subject of your recent call at this office with Mr Parker, Esq, of Washington Territory, respecting the taking of testimony in homestead and pre-emption cases in the La Grand District, Oregon, I have the honor to enclose herewith a copy of the instructions dispatched from this office under this date to the Register and Receiver of that District from which it will be seen that we have extended relief in the matter to the full extent of the discretion existing in the Department.

Mr Parker is also furnished with a copy of those instructions.

Very respectfully your obedient servant

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
General Land Office,
March 12th, 1869.

GENTLEMEN: The attention of this office has been called to our instructions in regard to claimants under the pre-emption and homestead laws who are settled in the Blue mountain region in Oregon, from which the travel to La Grand Land Office is tedious, toilsome and expensive.

1st. In pre-emption cases the 11th section of the act of 4th September, 1841, statutes volume 5 page 456, provides that the settler shall make the affidavit therein required before the Register or Receiver of the Land District in which the land is situated." This express requirement of the statute renders his personal attendance necessary at the district office, but in regard to the corroborating witnesses, where good reason is shown as distance, sickness or infirmity, their attendance at the district office will not be insisted on, but their depositions may be received by the Register and Receiver in which the cause of disability of attendance of witnesses must be satisfactorily stated, yet such depositions must be accompanied by evidence of the official character of the party taking [illegible]

See section 15, page 6 of the circular of 11th September 1867.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
JOS S WILSON,
Commissioner.

Register and Receiver, La Grand, Oregon.

EDITOR OREGONIAN: The above is an answer to representations made to the [illegible] memorial that it was burdensome and expensive for the claimants to take two witnesses from [illegible] the Blue mountains to La Grande Office or from Walla Walla to Vancouver Land Office. [illegible] will [illegible] the expense of taking [illegible] by this ruling.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—A strike among the journeymen shoemakers occurred yesterday, by which 500 shoemakers are thrown out of employment. The rates at which they have been working enabled them to earn from $18 to $28 per week and they ask an advance of 16 to 18 per cent. Universal negatives was the answer to their demand and several prominent firms here, among whom are [illegible] [illegible] & Co and the Pacific Tannery Boot and Shoe Co., are considering the practicability of employing Chinese.

VIRGINIA CITY, April 2.—The small pox still continues to afflict us, but very few of the cases prove fatal. There are three new cases reported in the last twenty four hours.

The Enterprise to-day has a scathing article on the frauds practised on the Government and people by the U P Railroad Company, concluding by expressing the hope that the Central Pacific managers may be able to show a cleaner record.

There seems to be no room to doubt that extensive arrangements were made on behalf of the Democratic party to secure fraudulent votes enough to [illegible] carry the State, and that very prominent [illegible] were cognizant of these arrangements [illegible] them. [illegible] employed for this purpose was the issue of naturalization papers [illegible] to be used for [illegible] citizens but [illegible] by many thousands of persons who could thus and in no other way [illegible] into the ballot box. Waiting for the Spring.

As breezes stir the morning,
A silence reigns in air,
Steel blue the heavens above me,
Moveless the trees and bare.
Yet unto me the stillness
This burden seems to bring—
"Patience! the earth is waiting,
Waiting for the Spring."

Strong ash and sturdy chestnut,
Rough oak and poplar high,
Stretch out their sapless branches
Against the wintry sky,
Even the guilty aspen
Hath [illegible] her quivering,
As though she too were waiting,
Waiting for the Spring.

I strain mine ears to listen
If haply where I stand,
But one stray note of music
May sound in all the land.
"Why art thou mute, O blackbird?
O thrush, why dost not sing?
Ah! surely they are waiting,
Waiting for the Spring."

O heart! thy days are darksome;
O heart! thy nights are drear,
But soon shall streams of sunshine
Proclaim the turning year.
Soon shall the trees be leafy,
Soon every bird shall sing;
Let them be silent waiting,
Waiting for the Spring.

DEAD RIVER.—The Alta California has the owing:

he finding of a large deposit of rich auri- us gravel at Castle Hill, on the south bank he Middle Yuba, about two miles east of est Hill, may prove an important event in gold production of the State. The Dead e River, which has been worked for sixty s, and has yielded not less than $150,000, was lost at Forest Hill, which is on north bank of the Middle Yuba, 2,800 above the sea, and 1,600 above the river. 1855 the dead river had been traced ough three counties, but it suddenly dis- eared at the line of El Dorado. The ler would make his fortune; and therefore ny persons spent years and small fortunes the search, but in vain. Some gravel was ed at Forest Hill, on the south side of canyon, but it was not an extensive de- it. No reason is known why the lead uld have been undiscoverable in El Dorado, ile its position was found so readily in cer, Nevada and Sierras, but the fact that was not discovered south of the Middle ba has been one the main causes of the inferiority of El Dorado in the gold yield the three nearest counties on the north, for ny years past. Yet there are places in erra and Placer where the lead has been and [illegible] of search have failed to find The old river took a bend, and its bed of avel is hidden in the mountain slide of bar- p gravel or stone from above; and the min- [illegible] that the course was straight, long tunnels in search of the gold bear- g stratum, and got nothing. If the dead ver has been found at Castle Hill, its posi- on may be traced thence for a considerable

THE MEAT SHOWER.—At their last meeting e California Academy of the Natural ciences discussed the [illegible] shower which re- ntly fell in the county of Santa Clara, and e debate is thus reported:

"Dr. Cooper having called on Dr. Kellogg r further information on the subject of the eat shower, the Doctor remarked that he elieved [illegible] of the witnesses of the heno [illegible] correct, and [illegible] Frank. Stew- [illegible] been [illegible] the [illegible] of 1869, of [illegible] involves [illegible] dis- [illegible] that Mr. [illegible] de- [illegible] had been [illegible] in that [illegible] but hich upon [illegible] to be vegot- ble [illegible]

Dr. [illegible] said that the specimens gathered d [illegible] carefully examined, and found to be sh and not vegetable. A good deal of dis- [illegible] on the subject, but no definite [illegible] was arrived at. The fall covered rty acres of ground, and came out of a [illegible] sky. The possibility of its having been fall of [illegible] was rejected, as the shower as unquestionably animal matter. He spoke [illegible] getting at [illegible] on y natural phenomena, and cited the in- [illegible] having been sent to m, as a [illegible] of the Earthquake Com- ittee, of the falling of a chimney at San [illegible]. The [illegible], though intended to be [illegible] having [illegible] quite the reverse of [illegible], as was proved upon examination."

[illegible] is far more valuable than hen [illegible]. Culture is the word for the increase of poultry, and legislators ought first to know his and act accordingly. To prove what we ay read the following:

"A hen may hatch a brood of a dozen chickens, exposed to a thousand accidents [illegible], and birds and beasts of ey. [illegible] that survive eat great quantities of grain before they are large enough to sell. A trout, per contra, lays a thousand eggs to [illegible] of her weight; and [illegible] eggs, [illegible] from the parent at the proper season, may nearly all be hatched and a large propor- ion of the young fry be reared. These when placed in a pond abounding in insect food will gain their own living, and if fed from time o time will weigh a pound apiece in three ears. A hen will not likely to produce in hree years more than 75 pounds of market- able poultry; but a trout, weighing a pound, ought to produce, in that time, at least 175 pounds of flesh. Trout are worth as much y weight as poultry. Europe is full of es- [illegible] for fish culture; and the Mu- nich market is chiefly supplied by cultivation fishes."

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.

It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

R. B. MOORE,	NATHANIEL BELL,
A. L. WALLACE,	G. R. WARD,
Mrs. MONTGOMERY,	JOHN M. HOLLOWAY,
W. D. PORTER,	ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others in that vicinity.

Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering on a [illegible] existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, bloated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of [illegible] or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid state [illegible] thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, so that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse [illegible]. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is [illegible] by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited [illegible] producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confusion of ideas, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, [illegible] flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately [illegible] or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails [illegible] a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will [illegible] Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by any of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are under any of these [illegible], should not [illegible] responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give the patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT [home] by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from curiosity, to any part of the country, with full directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and [illegible] who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the [illegible]. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and [illegible] too lazy to work at their trades. Some are [illegible], shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office [illegible], etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid [imposi]tion is to make enquiry—it will cost you [illegible] and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive [illegible] by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended [illegible] letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who will call at his office of his ability to treat [illegible] he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 952.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 952 ON THE [illegible]

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. [illegible] that they read his advertisement in the Daily [illegible]

SATURDAY MORNING APRIL 1869

Accounted For

In speaking of the inferiority of Democratic journalism we gave a terrible sh[oc]k to the tender sensibilities of our neighb[o]r of the Herald He agonizes over it in a w[r]iting article a column and a half in length and while virtually admitting the superiority of R[e]p[ub]lican newspapers, he accounts f[o]r it by charging in substance, that Radical [illegible] are diligent readers and turn t[o] [illegible] things found in literature, while Democratic editors disdain reading and rely entirely up[o]n the resources of their own intellects N[o]w this certainly is a most terrible accusation against "Radical editors It is an argument against Radicalism and in favor of Democracy equal to Nasby's best By their habit of reading, 'Radical editors acquire ideas, obtain illustrations avail themselves of the wisdom of great writers get a knowledge of the relations of the past and the present and obtain an insight into the philosophy of great social and political movements The result is seen in such specimens of journalism as Harpers Weekly and the Chicago Tribune. But "it is not so we quote from the Herald—"with Democratic journals Each one of them looks at a question from its own stand-point, and each one gives its own views upon the subject. Therefore a journal which stands upon its own merits will not make, to the casual observer, the same show of ability which another exhibits, which is virtually edited by the combined talent of the Radical party of the nation " This is good, decidedly. The result of this sublime reliance upon the unassisted Democratic intellect is seen in such specimens of journalism as the La Crosse Democrat, the New York Day Book that powerful Missouri journal, the Unterrified Democrat, and the Polk County Signal Of course it must be admitted that Democratic journalism is mainly original How else could we account for such specimens of literature as we find in Brick Pomeroy's paper? This charge that "Radical" editors are a reading class is the most terrible attack which the Herald has ever made upon its opponents What simpletons they are to go to old fogy authors like Burke, Johnson, or Alison, among the British, and to Irving and Marshall among American writers, as authorities, or to draw illustrations from noted writers of current literature, instead of following the example of the Herald and its brethren of the Democratic press, who boast that they rely exclusively on their own unaided intellectual powers! It is said that ancient Beriah of the Salem Press takes pride in avowing that he has not read a book in thirty years, and that all his greatness is due to his own un[assis]ted genius; but we [illegible] [rea]dily prepared to hear from the editor of the Herald who we believe has been a [illegible] and has therefore had opportunity to read the "Schoolmaster's Assistant" and [illegible] one or two other books in a village library, that this is a general rule a[mong] [Dem]ocratic editors. It seems that [ignorance] and self-sufficiency, which are but other names for ignorance, are the only qualities [illegible] necessary for a Democratic editor. Most of them seem to have started out like Mike Lambourne in Kenilworth, who found his "original stock of assurance too small to trade upon, so he was fain to take in a ton or two more of brass at every port where he touched in the voyage of life; and he [illegible] overboard what modesty and scruples he had remaining in order to make room for the stowage." But our recollection is that Mike's career was not, after all, an amiable one.

Oregon Poetry.

It is stated upon authority that may be [illegible] reliable, that the public are soon to be [illegible] with a volume of poems from the pen of C. H. Miller, of Canyon City The forthcoming book is to contain a number of occasional pieces, but its principal feature will be a poem of over three thousand lines,—the first literary production of such magnitude which has been attempted west of the Rocky Mountains

It has been ordained that the Pacific Coast shall be the home of the poets of North America. The influences that bring man into the most intimate relations with all that is inspiring in nature are continually felt by every [illegible] here, who has any poetry in his soul. The beautiful, the romantic, the sublime in scenery—the fancies and traditions of the wild men, whose sad destiny is soon to be an accomplished fact—the struggle between man and fate, in which the Christian and the Pagan, and all kindreds and races of men take part in common—the drama of life in its most thoroughly original phases—pass before the eye in a succession of views so varied and vast that only the artist and poet see anything but endless disorder and confusion To these children of genius every object and every event in this endless maze, has its place and its meaning; everything has its orbit and keeps it with the precision of machinery, and the [illegible] of strife and discord have an undertone as harmonious as the music of the spheres. And the whole scene is a portraiture of the sentiments and passions, the conflicts, triumphs and disappointments, that sway human destiny.

California first caught the inspiration and the world has seen her works of art and admired them for a while—has heard her songs and returned its meed of momentary applause and Oregon has produced a few gems worthy to be noted as promises of better things Yet from all this abundance of material there has been nothing wrought which is certain to outlive the hand that produced it unless it be in the volume now about to be given to the literary world by Judge Miller

The author of this poem is a lawyer by profession, and has been for some time on the bench in the interior of the State He has lived in Oregon from his childhood with the exception of a short time he lived in California has spent his life thus far, sometimes in the society of books, much in that of nature and has evidently a vein of genius in his intellectual make-up Of this there is evidence in some fugitive pieces contributed by him to the newspaper press heretofore and there is somewhat of the ring of the true metal in the modest little volume printed about a year ago with the unpretending title 'Specimens, and containing only two pieces christened respectively. 'Louis Ellah and 'Shadows

The first of these is a tale of Indian life the scene of which is placed in Southern Oregon—Rogue River valley—and the occasion is a war between the Indians and the infant settlements of the whites It is not the design of this article to review this poem after the manner of the critics if it were the review would probably amount to about this The tale has a plot and a heroine with drama enough to work the plot out and give the heroine a chance to exhibit herself to [illegible] advantage as the circumstances will [illegible] and the plot and heroine are [illegible] by a greater or less number of [illegible] The plot is just that much more than such poems usually possess but it adds greatly to the interest, and is not absolutely forbidden by the rules for have not 'Bitter Sweet and 'Miles Standish's Courtship each a plot? If the plot in Louis Ellah [illegible] tionable on any account [illegible] [illegible] eclipses [illegible] one and thus mars the symmetry of the p[oem] [illegible] gives it the appearance of [illegible] of the culm[illegible] the means The character of Louis Ellah is not sustained as a heroine sh[ould] [illegible] is well got up and comes up to the [illegible] good costume but [illegible] ently, and never looks so well as at her first appearance But this [illegible] construction is not inconsistent with [illegible] good poetry There are many passag[es] [illegible] Louis Ellah that are exceedingly happy and excepting some slight [illegible] the matter of taste there have been few if any better performances upon similar themes since the noble red man first became a subject of song

The war is about to begin a council of the braves is called and the wary warriors meet in a defile so deep and narrow that nothing could reach them from without unless it were a star dropped from the sky and here the situation is discussed in much better style—more truthful to Indian nature than the bombastic trash which we are accustomed to read for Indian eloquence Here is the promiscuous gathering a picture that deserves a place in the literary gallery of our country

Some were gray as [illegible]
And wise to their [illegible]
Some were young and [illegible]
Some were lordly and grand as kings

Flashed the council fire brighter
Flashed black eyes like diamond beads
As a woman [illegible]
And a warrior told his deeds

Slowly rose one from the circle
Like a mast from out the sea—
King [illegible] stamped on every muscle
Chief of all the braves was he

Women melted from the circle,
Boys crept backward out of sight
Till alone a wall of warriors
Sat reflecting back the light

Then was lit the pipe of council
That their fathers [illegible]
With its stem of [illegible]
And its bowl of quartz and gold

Then from lip to lip in silence
Burned it round the circle red
Like a meteor of midnight
Prophesying war and dread

Possibly "quartz and gold may not be considered the proper material for the Indian pipe of council, at least not till some person uses it whom the critics are afraid of,—after which the propriety of this selection will be so manifest that everybody will wonder why any writer should pick up common clay to make Indian pipes of when gold bearing quartz is to be found in such abundance

Another passage in this extract merits particular attention "A wall of warriors sat reflecting back the light " Nothing is hazarded in pronouncing this one of the handsomest things in American poetry Think of a council of warriors sitting around their fire of pine wood with the fires of hate, revenge and high resolve burning in their bosoms more fiercely than the blazing fagots around which they are gathered, a wall in firmness and unity of resolve, and their dark faces shining with unnatural radiance These are the savages one sees on the Western frontier—not those he finds only in gilt-edged duodecimos

But while the pipe goes round the mutterings of distant thunder are heard, portending a storm. True to Indian instinct the chief recognizes in the deep low tones a voice from the land of the departed, urging him to deeds of valor, and this he turns to good account in arousing his braves to a point of determination equal to the emergency

"'Tis the spirits of my fathers
Muttering vengeance in the skies,
And the [illegible] of the lightning
Is the anger of their eyes

Cried their chieftain now springing
Naked all above the waist,
While a belt of shells and silver
Held his tomahawk to its place,

"O my fathers in the storm cloud,
With his arms tossed to the gloom
While the very walls of granite
Seemed to shrink to give him room,

'Soon we come in smoke and battle
O'er the shadows you have crossed,
Speak for hunting grounds there for us,
Those you left us we have lost

'Yes we come, O angry fathers
But our journey to that shore
Shall be lit with flaming cities
And be slippery, red with gore."

Warriors," and his arms were folded
On his tawny swelling breast
While his voice fell low and plaintive
As the waves in their unrest

'Where is Wrotie wise of counsel
But yesterday here in his place?
A brave lies dead down in the valley
And a ghost sits on his face.

'Where's my boy, the tender hearted
He [illegible] his mother yest[er] morn,
Now his ghost sits here among us
And his mother mourns forlorn

"Once this place around a mountain
Did my braves in council reach
Now I call you in a whisper
And my voice is heard by each

* * * * *

"O my mother, up in cloud land,"
His arms dashed like the tossing spray,
"Whet the flint-heads to my arrows,
Make my heart as hard as they.

"Warriors, braves, I cry for vengeance
And all the red ghosts near and far,
Fathers of you here assembled,
Wail with me and cry for war

The allusion in the above to the custom of the Indian women preparing the arrow heads for the warriors, and carrying the same custom into the hunting grounds of paradise is exceedingly fine

These extracts are specimens of this Specimen It is sustained to the close and ends tragically but well The piece contains nearly a thousand lines

Of 'Shadows ' we shall say less for want of space, but it merits more Its name is a true index of its character and nothing short of a close study of it enables one to lift the shadowy veil thrown over the plan of its construction In some respects it is superior to Louis Ellah The author has evidently bestowed more care upon its composition Indeed the first impression one has upon reading this piece, is that it is the germ of something the author has in mind to be developed at another time One cannot read it without feeling that there is more in it than he has been able to draw out

It is fair to conclude from these two specimens, that Judge Miller cares less for the art of making a poem than for the poetry of which it is to be made He is the poet of nature rather than of the schools and desires to join the critics in reversing the old and [illegible] maxim Poeta nascitur non fit

The Chief of Police in St Louis has a letter before him from an indignant wife to [illegible] It is dated January 28th and begins as follows

Small Notes

The [illegible] Massachusetts has [illegible] that Grant [illegible] the best and [illegible] confess that we have had [illegible] ears aroused by the President's remarks [illegible] his few days [illegible] This [illegible] from the fact that the writers [illegible] hope [illegible] President [illegible]

The proposed suffrage amendment has [illegible] ratified by the [illegible] States [illegible] Kansas Nevada Louisiana Missouri Illinois Michigan Wisconsin West Virginia Maine Massachusetts Pennsylvania South Carolina and Arkansas There may be others not enumerated in the list which have ratified [illegible] are much more favorable for the success of this amendment than for either of the two immediately preceding it at the time they were proposed by Congress

The Herald is reduced to Beriah's stale expedient of asserting that the editorial columns of the OREGONIAN are used as a medium through which a high judicial functionary [illegible] his opinions to the public Now we [illegible] the [illegible] Federal Judge [illegible] appears to give the [illegible] Herald [illegible] publicly exposed the falsity of this assertion when it was made by Beriah Brown If the present editor of the Herald would go somewhere and get stuffed perhaps that paper would not be the insane thing it is Any sort of stuffing would be an improvement Tan bark chips or saw dust would be the most natural provender

As we predicted some time ago there has been a great reduction of the public debt during the months of February and March There will also be a large reduction during the month of April The reduction for May will not be so large and perhaps may be nothing at all as a large amount of interest falls due in that month The reduction during the last two months has been over $31 000 000 The amount of railroad bonds issued during the same time is $4 668 320 of which $2 748 320 were issued during the month of March The American people having at last secured harmony in the Government will now demonstrate their ability to pay off the whole debt within a few years We shall see whether those who have been croaking heretofore about the monthly increase of the debt will take the same pains to print the figures which show its diminution as they have to give prominence to statements which have shown its increase

It is rumored that the Fifteenth Amendment is ratified, and the naturalization laws are changed as they will be upon its adoption that the Radical party for the purpose of securing the Chinese vote will nominate Dr Jim as the candidate for Governor to succeed George L Woods We are told that the OREGONIAN favors this movement —Herald

The OREGONIAN will favor this movement if the Democracy will nominate either Chapman or Stout to run against Dr Jim, providing of course, that they do not nominate Dr Jim themselves to catch the Chinese vote The Celestial Doctor could undoubtedly vanquish Stout or Chapman on the stump quite as effectually and handsomely as he beat them last fall in his letters on the Chinese tax bill

General Land Office,
March 12th, 1869

SIR Referring to the subject of your recent call at this office with Mr Parker, Esq , of Washington Territory, respecting the taking of testimony in homestead and pre-emption cases in the La Grand District, Oregon, I have the honor to enclose herewith a copy of the instructions dispatched from this office under this date to the Register and Receiver of that District, from which it will be seen that we have extended relief to the matter to the full extent of the discretion existing in the Department

Mr Parker is also furnished with a copy of these instructions

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
General Land Office
March 12th, 1869

GENTLEMEN The attention of this office has been called to our instructions in regard to claim acts under the pre emption and homestead laws who are settled in the Blue mountain region in Oregon, from which the travel to La Grand Land Office is tedious toilsome and expensive

1st In pre emption cases, the 13th section of the act of 4th September, 1841 statutes volume 5 page 456 provides that the settler shall make the affidavit therein required "before the Register or Receiver of the Land District in which the land is situated " This express requirement of the statute renders his personal attendance necessary at the district office, but in regard to the corroborating witnesses, where good reason is shown, as distance sickness or infirmity, their attendance at the district office will not be insisted on but their depositions may be received by the Register and Receiver in which the cause of disability of attendance of witnesses must be satisfactorily stated yet such depositions must be accompanied by evidence of the official character of the party taking test[imon]y

2d In homestead cases where the settler can not attend at the District Land Office for reasons of the character indicated he is at liberty under the act of 21st March 1864 to make the preliminary affidavit for his homestead entry before the Clerk of the Court for the county in which he is an actual resident See section 15 page 6 of the circular of [illegible] September 186[illegible]

Very respectfully your obedient servant
JOS S WILSON
Commissioner
Register and Receiver La Grand Oregon

EDITOR OREGONIAN The above is an answer to representations made to the Commissioner that it was burdensome and expensive for the claimants to take two witnesses from Umatilla over the Blue mountains to La Grand Office or from Walla Walla to Vancouver Land Office You will perceive the expense of taking the witnesses may be avoided by this ruling

There seems to be no room to doubt that extensive arrangements were made in behalf of the Democratic party to secure fraudulent votes enough in the city to carry the State and that very prominent [illegible] were cognizant of these arrangements and indeed [illegible] them Prominent among the means employed for this purpose was the issue of naturalization papers in blank and in large quantities to be used for converting aliens into citizens but [illegible] by many thousands of persons who could thus and in no other way get their votes into the ballot boxes There seems to be reason for believing that not less than [illegible] of these papers were thus issued and [illegible] mainly in this city but to some extent throughout the State and in all cases so far as known in the interest of the Democratic party The report of the Committee enters at great length into the statistics which establish these facts and makes a great variety of comments upon the conduct of things which it thus discloses and suggests laws [illegible] the [illegible] in the future

Waiting for the Spring.

As breezes stir the morning,
A silence reigns in air,
Steel blue the heavens above me,
Moveless the trees and bare.
Yet unto me the stillness
This burden seems to bring—
"Patience! the earth is waiting,
Waiting for the Spring."

Strong ash and stately chestnut,
Rough oak and poplar high,
Stretch out their sapless branches
Against the wintry sky,
Even the guilty aspen
Hath [illegible] her quivering,
As though she too were waiting,
Waiting for the Spring.

I strain mine ears to listen
If haply where I stand,
But one stray note of music
May sound in all the land.
"Why art thou mute, O blackbird!
O thrush, why dost not sing?
Ah! surely they are waiting,
Waiting for the Spring."

O heart! thy days are darksome;
O heart! thy nights are drear,
But soon shall streams of sunshine
Proclaim the turning year.
Soon shall the trees be leafy,
Soon every bird shall sing;
Let them be silent waiting,
Waiting for the Spring.

A DEAD RIVER.—The Alta California has the ollowing:

The finding of a large deposit of rich auri-rous gravel at Castle Hill, on the south bank f the Middle Yuba, about two miles east of 'orest Hill, may prove an important event in he gold production of the State. The Dead Blue River, which has been worked for sixty iles, and has yielded not less than $150,-00,000, was lost at Forest Hill, which is on he north bank of the Middle Yuba, 2,800 eet above the sea, and 1,600 above the river. n 1855 the dead river had been traced hrough three counties, but it suddenly disppeared at the line of El Dorado. The nder would make his fortune; and therefore many persons spent years and small fortunes in the search, but in vain. Some gravel was obtained at Forest Hill, on the south side of the canyon, but it was not an extensive deposit. No reason is known why the lead should have been undiscoverable in El Dorado, while its position was found so readily in Placer, Nevada and Sierras, but the fact that it was not discovered south of the Middle Yuba has been one the main causes of the great inferiority of El Dorado in the gold yield, to the three nearest counties on the north, for many years past. Yet there are places in Sierra and Placer where the lead has been lost, and y[illegible] of search have failed to find it. The old river took a bend, and its bed of gravel is hi[illegible] in the mountain slide of barren gravel or stone from above; and the miners, [illegible] that the course was straight, run [illegible] tunnels in search of the gold bearing stratum, and got nothing. If the dead river has been found at Castle Hill, its position may be traced thence for a considerable dis[illegible]

THE MEAT SHOWER.—At their last meeting the California Academy of the Natural Sciences discussed the meat shower which recently fell in the county of Santa Clara, and the debate is thus reported:

"Dr. Co[illegible] having called on Dr. Kellogg for further [illegible] on the subject of the meat shower, the Doctor [illegible] asked that he believed [illegible] nesses of the pheno[illegible] correct, and read a [illegible] Frank. Stewart, [illegible] been [illegible] known, espec[illegible] the [illegible] of 1863, of flocks [illegible] themselves with [illegible] dis-[illegible] the rain.

[illegible] that Mr. Elo[illegible] desired him to [illegible] had been known to [illegible] in that [illegible], but which upon examination, pro[illegible] to be vegetable.

Dr. [illegible] said that the specimen he gathered had [illegible] fully examined, and found to be flesh and not vegetable. A good deal of dis[illegible] on the subject, but no definite [illegible] was arrived at. The fall covered forty acres of ground, and came out of a clear sky. The possibility of its having been a fall of [illegible] was rejected, as the shower was unquestionably animal matter. He spoke of [illegible] of getting at co[illegible] on any natural phenomena, and cited the instance of [illegible] having been sent to him, as a [illegible] of the [illegible] Company, of the falling of a chimney at San Jose. The statement, though intended to be accurate, having been quite the reverse of truth, as was proved upon examination."

FISH CULTURE is far more valuable than hen culture. Culture is the word for the increase of poultry, and legislators ought first to know this and act accordingly. To prove what we say read the following:

"A hen may hatch a brood of a dozen chickens, exposed to a thousand accidents [illegible], and birds and beasts of prey. Those that survive eat great quantities of grain before they are large enough to sell. A trout, per contra, lays a thousand eggs to [illegible] of her weight; and [illegible] eggs, taken from the parent at the proper season, may nearly all be hatched and a large proportion of the young fry be reared. These when placed in a pond abounding in insect food will gain their own living, and if fed from time to time will weigh a pound apiece in three years. A hen will not likely to produce in three years more than 75 pounds of marketable poultry; but a trout, weighing a pound, ought to produce, in that time, at least 175 pounds of flesh. Trout are worth as much by weight as poultry. Europe is full of es[illegible] for fish culture; and the Munich market is chiefly supplied by cultivation fishes."

A New Orleans lawyer, the other day, who was defending a case against a railroad company for running over and maiming a child, told the jury that if they awarded damages the people of New Orleans would eternally be sending their children in the street to be run over.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.

It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months to which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

E. B. MOORE,
A. L. WALLACE,
Mrs. MONTGOMERY,
W. D. PORTER,
NATHANIEL BELL,
G. R. WARD,
JOHN M. HOLLOWAY,
ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others in that vicinity.

Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering on t[illegible] ence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from vices absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, [illegible] ted and disfigured faces and their broken [illegible] tions, disqualifying them for the happiness of [illegible] or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situ[illegible] sands suffer until death closes the scene. Let guardians, friends, attend to those who are [illegible] with any of these horrible life-destroying m[illegible] that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases [illegible] mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, [illegible] public by using the names of eminent physi[illegible] from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-[illegible]. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is pr[illegible] by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited [illegible], producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused [illegible] blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acq[illegible] a disposition to shun society, loss of m[illegible] flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, con[illegible] sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If [illegible] not obtained, should apply immediately, [illegible] or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never [illegible] effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will [illegible] Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by [illegible] of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are under any of these [illegible], should not [illegible] sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will gi[illegible] patient a written instrument, binding h[illegible] the radical and permanent cure, or make no[illegible]

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT [illegible] by addr[illegible]ng a letter to Dr. Gibbon, sta[illegible] toms, length of time the disease has con[illegible], and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from curiosity, to any part of the country, with full directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in a [illegible] ter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and [illegible] who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the [illegible] Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and [illegible] lazy to work at their trades. Some are [illegible] shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office [illegible] etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid [illegible] tion is to make enquiry—it will cost you [illegible] and may save you many regrets; for, as adver[illegible] physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive [illegible] by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended [illegible] letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who call at his office of his ability to treat all [illegible] he proposes to cure.

TRANS-CONTINENTAL FREIGHTING.—The San Francisco Herald's financial and commercial report of a late date contained the following in[illegible]ting speculations upon the revolution to be effected in trade by the completion of the Pacific railroad: "In making estimates for the freighting business which is to be done over the Pacific rail[illegible] it should be remembered that a great deal of it will be entirely new. Business relations of a novel character will be brought into existence, and a trade hitherto impracticable will be inaugurated. So far from Chicago [illegible] a formidable rival she will herself be dependent upon this State for large [illegible] of articles she is incapable of producing, from [illegible] to April. An extensive business will be done in the fruit and fresh vegetable line. Fine, large new [illegible] on the 1st of March, asparagus, green peas, all sorts of [illegible], fresh bananas, [illegible] luscious oranges, just off the trees, fresh limes and lemons, Cali[illegible] [illegible], fresh cauliflowers of wondrous size and excell[illegible], and a host of other like articles will reach them in the midst of their ice bound winter, while a whole [illegible] of other horticultural products, such as fresh [illegible], apples, pears, and all sorts of [illegible] will [illegible] the festive boards long before they reach maturity in that rigorous region. For our fresh salmon, worth from $1 to [illegible] in Eastern markets at a certain season of the year, we will receive their oysters in large quantities. We apprehend that much of the available space devoted to the fast freight [illegible] will be absorbed by this hitherto impracticable [illegible] for not only Chicago but a very extensive belt of country, tributary to the railroads and well peopled, will also require many of our abundant products, and swell the trade to grandiose proportions. Now, if we [illegible] the demands that must be made upon San Francisco for supplies of groceries, such as coffee, tea, sugar, etc., and the space that will be required for the transportation of specie, silk, silkworm eggs, spices, Chinese and Japanese products, etc., it will be readily conceived that the freighting business of the railroads will not seriously [illegible] upon that of the steamers. There is nothing to hinder the Pacific Mail Company from doing nearly all the heavy freighting between San Francisco and Atlantic [illegible], if decent terms can be made with the Panama Railroad Company, for by multiplying its facilities and [illegible] rates down to a moderate paying standard, [illegible] keep up a constant stream of [illegible], and completely rule out the Horn route, so far as our trade is concerned, until [illegible] large [illegible] upon transportation. It is not only rumored, but positively asserted, that not less than half a million people will come to [illegible] this year, and th[illegible] are already [illegible] hither at the earliest practicable [illegible] the Pacific railroads shall have consummated [illegible] action. In fact so great is the demand [illegible] upon their capabilities, that we learn [illegible] later than the last of April have been e[illegible]."

[illegible]-FOOL'S DAY.—Yesterday was the first of April, All-fool's day. We hear of a number of very [illegible] practical jokes perpetrated by the wags. The day, however, has an interest aside from the custom of [illegible] tricks. It is the day upon which, according [illegible] as well as modern notions, Dame Nature, [illegible] long sleep, wakes, gets up and begins to put [illegible] new clothes. Poets have apostrophized the day [illegible] in many a well turned sonnet, and couplet [illegible] verse; and makers of wise laws have turned [illegible] world many a proverb concerning both. An [illegible] proverb says:

A cold April
The barn well filled.

[illegible] says:

When April blows his horn,
It's good for both hay and corn.

[illegible] authority says:

An April flood
C[illegible] away the frog and his brood.

[illegible] that the life of the year began with [illegible] of April, is very prettily expressed in the following [illegible] by an old poet:

This day Dame Nature seemed in love;
The lusty sap began to move;
Fresh juice did stir th' embracing vines
And birds had drawn their valentines;
[illegible] trout that low did lie,
[illegible] at a well dissembled fly;
[illegible] were the eaves possess'd
[illegible] the swift pilgrim's daubed nest;
[illegible] already did rejoice,
[illegible] triumphing voice;
[illegible] were short, the weather mild,
The morning fresh, the evening smiled.
[illegible] takes her neat-rubbed pail, and now
[illegible] trips to milk the sand-red cow.
[illegible] fields and gardens were beset
[illegible] tulips, crocus, violet;
[illegible] now, though late, the [illegible] rose
[illegible] more than half a blush disclosed;
[illegible] all looks gay and full of cheer,
[illegible] the new-liveried year.

VIEW OF TACOMA.—The Unionist has information [illegible], who recently returned from Puget Sound, which puts an entirely new face [illegible] "situation," from that recently published in [illegible] and [illegible] in the [illegible] papers. We [illegible] the [illegible] given by the Unionist's in[illegible] near right as the other. The Unionist [illegible] had an item on Tacoma, a [illegible], that was copied into the other Portland [illegible] is all wrong. Our [illegible] is a gentleman [illegible] who went over on the Sound for the [illegible] of spying out the [illegible]. He says it [illegible] that there are a great many persons going [illegible] and laboring in their shirt [illegible], but he don't [illegible]. About a [illegible] since there was a stage line [illegible] into that place, twice a week, sometimes carrying [illegible] and quite as often alone. The Portland [illegible] that there was not [illegible] for building purposes [illegible] be had, when, in fact, there is nothing but [illegible] three miles [illegible] the town site, except to [illegible]. No small saw mill is in operation or ever has [illegible] this place. There may be saw mills near it. [illegible] of the brig Fast Lerey, U. S. coast survey, [illegible] in the T[illegible] harbor and did not [illegible] at a hundred fathoms depth. Mr. Nash [illegible] about a month since, to purchase machinery [illegible] from Tacoma to various other [illegible]. Town lots were, and probably are [illegible] at one hundred dollars each, with a promise [illegible] dollars more if that place shall be [illegible] within five years. All the improvements being made when our inform[illegible] was there, [illegible] saw mill and a two-story house, to be used [illegible] for the mill hands. About two men [illegible] on the mill. There were three [illegible] that time."

[illegible]—We clip the subjoined items from the [illegible]: The plat of the Odd Fellows' [illegible] been completed. There are nine hundred [illegible] the cemetery, which will hold about [illegible] each, making a total of one thousand four [illegible]. Last Tuesday evening the sale of [illegible] took place in the Congregational [illegible] was quite a rivalry among several of the [illegible] and some of the slips were bid off at $60. None [illegible]. The aggregate of the sales amounted [illegible] a number remained undisposed of, and [illegible] be sold to private purchasers.....A few days [illegible] of a town which is to be [illegible] hood of Waconda. We now have [illegible]. The land of which this town [illegible] of two hundred acres from the farms [illegible], viz: The Pouladea, Larkins [illegible] will be three hundred feet square, [illegible] through them. These blocks are [illegible] lots seventy-five by one hundred and [illegible] size. The streets will be eighty feet [illegible] the [illegible] of the town will run railroad [illegible] hundred and twenty feet in width. The depot will occupy the center of this avenue and [illegible] the town will be equally divided between [illegible] and the original proprietors [illegible] party taking alternate lots through the [illegible] been selected for this new town. It [illegible] this will be the only place of any importance [illegible] Salem and Oregon City.

[illegible] SEMI-CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.—The Ore[illegible] of the approaching celebration at Salem [illegible] of this day by the Odd Fellows, [illegible] anniversary of the introduction of the [illegible], promises to be a complete success [illegible] of the day, Hon. Nathaniel Porter, of [illegible] probably the most eloquent speaker on [illegible] and must add great interest to the occasion [illegible] programme will consist of a procession, [illegible] picnic during the day, and a reunion or social [illegible] ball in the evening. It will, beyond doubt, [illegible] is favorable, be the largest gathering [illegible] of that Order which has ever been witnessed [illegible] the States."

[illegible]—We learn that the soldier, lately sick at [illegible] of small pox, has recovered so far as to be [illegible]. No one has yet shown any symptoms of [illegible] the disease from him. There were [illegible] on the steamer with him on the trip [illegible], and they cursed him after it was [illegible] he had the small pox; but thus far none of [illegible] taken down. The precautions at first ob[illegible] however, still regarded, though it is thought [illegible] that anybody contracted the contagion; [illegible] created at the introduction of the [illegible] altogether subsided.

[illegible] LINE FROM NEW YORK TO PORTLAND.—[illegible] bark Adeline Elwood, according to a letter [illegible] in this city, was about half loaded about the [illegible] of February, with a considerable part of the return [illegible] half of cargo engaged. Though no intelligence [illegible] sailing has been received, it is supposed she is now [illegible] out from New York. She is a bark of [illegible].

TRADE TO AND FROM THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—From [illegible] annual report of the Collector-General of the Ha[illegible], we learn that during 1868, three passengers [illegible] their departure from the islands to Oregon, [illegible] arrived from Oregon. The arrivals from, [illegible] to, San Francisco, were over five hundred [illegible] way; to Victoria, six, and from Victoria, [illegible].

[illegible]—Olive Logan, in a lecture of advice to women [illegible]: "Now, girls, be men!" Now girls, don't you [illegible]. You couldn't do a sillier thing if you were to try [illegible] day in the year till you get as old as your grand[illegible]. It would just spoil all the fun and poetry of [illegible] life.

[illegible] FROM PRISON.—The President's pardon of [illegible] confined in the county jail of this county, [illegible] of robbing the mails at this city, ar[illegible] yesterday, and Randall was discharged from custody.

FOR THE SOUND COUNTRY.—The steamer Carrie took [illegible] day morning, several head of work oxen [illegible] in this State for some of the logging camps on Puget Sound.

[illegible].—Since writing the item concerning the burglary and assault at Vancouver, we learn that the party [illegible] was arrested yesterday. His name is Seymour.

[illegible].—Gov. Woods arrived down from Salem last [illegible]. His stay, however, is very brief, as he starts back again this morning.

couver, a most daring burglary was perpetrated and an inhuman assault was made upon the barkeeper of the Capitol Saloon. Three men disguised effected an entrance into the saloon through a window, unquestionably for the purpose of going through the place. The bar keeper who slept in the saloon was awakened by the noise they made, and he confronted the burglars with a revolver. They had however, as it appears, expected this and had provided themselves with a mallet—such an one as is used [illegible] the bung [illegible]. Finding that the barkeeper was aroused one of them rushed upon him with the mallet and commenced beating him on the head with it. The assaulted man received several terrific blows about the head and face which lacerated him badly and partially stunned him but fortunately, he was not so badly hurt but that he was able to fire two shots from his revolver at his assailants who then, becoming frightened and jumping out the window by which they had entered, escaped. One of them left his hat in his hurry, and it is thought it will be the means of identifying him. He is well known at Vancouver.

WHAT HAS BECOME OF IT?—We are requested by a gentleman who is personally interested in the matter to enquire what has become of the petition presented to the Council some weeks ago and referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property, asking for the improvement of North Park street. The petitioners, embracing a majority of the owners of property abutting upon the street, feel that they are entitled to some consideration on the part of the Council and that something ought to be done with their petition, especially as they offered to do the grading of the roadways and to construct the sidewalks, leaving the city to do only the work of grading the park proper.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.—Liberty Division, No. 1, Sons of Temperance, lately elected the following officers for the quarter beginning April 1st: Warren Cranston, W P; Mrs W R Dunbar, W A; T B Leonard, R S; Miss C Hibbard, A R S; A Thompson, F S; Miss M Geer, T; F Mescher, Jr, Chap.; A A Leonard, C; S Cox, A C; Wm Cox, I S; C W Hibbard, O S; J W Shrum, P W P, and L B Geer, D D. This Division was instituted January 9, 1869, with fourteen members and now has a membership of thirty three.

A HORRIBLE HOLE.—Mr. Morris, City Surveyor, who was yesterday engaged in making a survey of block sixteen—between Washington and Alder, and First and Second—informs us that he found the buildings which are occupied by Chinese and the back yards adjacent, in a horribly filthy condition; the stench arising from them being almost intolerable. The matter certainly demands some attention from the proper authorities. Where is the Council's Committee on Health and Police?

COW POISONED.—Mr. Warren, who lives at the western border of the city, lost a valuable cow on Wednesday, by poisoning. Nothing is known as to how it happened, or by whom the poisoning was done.

ARRIVED AT SAN FRANCISCO.—The brig North Star from Portland with cargo of produce, arrived at San Francisco, yesterday.

Washington Fact and Gossip.

WASHINGTON, Thursday night, March 4.—The fortieth Congress died at noon with the work nearly all done and most of the "jobs" unsuccessful. The Indian bill failed because the House did not choose to swallow all the Senate private jobs tacked on to it. The conference committee on it agreed to disagree and to turn the bill over to the next Congress. It is understood that a joint committee will be raised in the new Congress to consider the subject. Both Houses were rigidly economical in the closing hours. An attempt to pass the bill giving Mrs. Lincoln a five thousand dollar pension was defeated. Morton tried in the Senate to get pay for the Southern Senators for the entire session, an old scheme of his, and was beaten. In the House the Committee of Accounts got through their nice little scheme of paying their own clerk extra pay and giving it to but one other, that of the Pension Committee. This Committee's astounding course in refusing to sign the resolutions of the House unless they pleased the members, was successful, and Menard and Hunt, the Louisiana claimants to seats, have not got the money the House voted them. The night session passed without disturbance worth mentioning; in the House, Ingersoll, of Illinois, at one time was a little demonstrative, but he was soon induced to take his seat. Speaker Pomeroy presided over the House all night and was as fresh this morning to all appearances as ever. His praises are in every mouth for his admirable conduct. If he were in the new Congress there can be no doubt that he would be its Speaker.

The scene in the Senate was unusually fine towards noon. The floor was so filled with distinguished people that not half the Representatives could get in. A trio of distinguished men absorbed the attention of the spectators—Admiral Farragut, Gen. Thomas and Gen. Sherman sat together. Gen. Sickles, with his crutches, was another lion. E. B. Washburne was out, and the knowing ones whispered to each other when Washburne sent for Boutwell, and engaged in conversation for a few minutes. He is sure for a Cabinet place, was the general exclamation, and such is the general verdict of to-night.

Colfax's little speech was well received, and the old members contrasted it with the drunken harangue of Johnson, four years ago.

Johnson declined to leave the White House and take part in the proceedings, and can't be blamed, as Gen. Grant refused to ride with him to the Capitol. As if to punish Congress, Johnson declined to come to the Capitol, as is the usual custom, to sign bills, and they had to be sent off in hot haste to the other end of the avenue.

General Grant carried himself modestly, and yet manfully throughout. Inside the Senate Chamber the people were compelled to silence, but the moment he showed himself to the twenty thousand people outside, the applause was quick and tremendous. He was as modest in delivering his inaugural as any lyceum youth. Few could hear a word, but an occasional sentence was caught up by the crowd and cheered.

The message gives intense satisfaction. Shellabarger, of Ohio, one of the ablest of the Radicals, says it is perfect. Greeley, who is here, was delighted with it. A few members criticise the paragraph which relates to the use of the veto power; they say that it smacks a little of Johnsonism; but Elihu B. Washburne says it only means that General Grant will veto bills that attempt to rob the Treasury. The British Minister understands very well what the paragraph upon foreign affairs means.

The organization of the House was not effected without a row. Brooks and Eldridge tried their best to stir up bad blood and at one time it looked as if the Clerk would have to call on the police to put those gentlemen in their seats, as they refused to obey him, and the House had no Sergeant-at-Arms.

The Senate Republicans will meet in caucus to-morrow at 11 A. M., to arrange the new committees. Mr. Anthony is Chairman, and will select a Committee of Three to make up the committees. Mr. Anthony is much talked of for President pro tem of the Senate, and if the office is filled by an Eastern man he will probably be selected.

General Grant and his family intend to spend the night at their old residence on I street, and will not take possession of the White House for a day or two.

The inauguration ball this evening is a success, thousands being present, and so far everything has passed off happily. General Grant looks a little pale and tired, but gives everybody a cordial greeting.

The only man who has actually received an office from Grant is an old committee clerk by the name of Lucky. He received a line from Grant, to-day, asking him to report himself for duty at the White House. He is to be one of the President's clerks.

The currency distribution bill failed. The Senate was willing to give the South and East $20,000,000, but the House would not take so little, and the bill failed.

LAND FOR THE LOVELY.—The "two sexes of man" have gotten into the United States Land Office, as appears from the late report. The question being raised, whether "an unmarried woman, over twenty-one years of age, not the head of a family," had the right to pre-empt, the law extending that privilege to: 1, "Every person being the head of a family," 2 "A widow," 3 "A single man over the age of twenty-one years," a decision was rendered that, in the spirit of the law, the "unmarried woman" was "a single man." This is the way the office come at it: the Anglo Saxon word mag or mæg means to be able, or strong, this, by elision, naturally glides into the word "man," a generic term, applying to both sexes, the original Saxon, from which the English word is derived, having been used in a sense so comprehensive as to mean "mankind," man, woman, a vassal, also any one, like the French "on," Gothic "manna," the Hebrew meaning species or kind. "That's woman's ripe age, as full as thou art, at one and twenty." Understanding the terms of the law in their wider sense, this office has decided that an unmarried or single woman over the age of twenty-one years, not the head of a family, but able to meet all the requirements of the pre emption law, has a right to claim its benefits, &c.

CALIFORNIA WINE.—The San Francisco Bulletin says:

Wine making is likely to be more systematically and intelligently managed in the interior hereafter. Several companies have been organized in grape growing districts with the idea of buying up the fruit and making wine of the best quality at low rates under skillful direction. This plan, it has been demonstrated, is best for the farmers who add grape culture to their other resources, giving them a certain market at good prices, while insuring a better quality of wine, in quantities so large that much of it can be allowed to attain a fair age before it is offered to consumers.

WALTHAM WATCHES.

The extensive use of these watches for the last fifteen years by Railway Conductors, Engineers and Expressmen, the most exacting of watch wearers, has thoroughly demonstrated the strength, steadiness, durability and accuracy of the Waltham Watch. To satisfy that class in all these respects, is to decide the question as to the real value of these timekeepers.

The superior organization and great extent of the Company's Works at Waltham, enable them to produce watches, COMBINING THE BEST AND LATEST IMPROVEMENTS, and at a price which renders competition futile, and those who buy any other watch, merely pay from 25 to 50 per cent. more for their watches than is necessary.

For sale by all dealers.

U. S. MARSHAL'S NOTICE.—DISTRICT OF OREGON. Whereas a Libel has been filed in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon on the 30th day of March, A. D. 1869, by Thomas Smith et al, against the Barkentine Jane Falkinburg, her boats, tackle, apparel and furniture, alleging in substance that said libellants some time in March, A. D. 1869, shipped on board the said barkentine as seamen, for a voyage from the port of San Francisco, Cal., to the port of Portland, Oregon, and back to said port of San Francisco, and that said barkentine arrived at the said port of Portland on the 20th day of March, 1869. That in consequence of the misconduct of an officer toward the said libellants on the 28th day of March, 1869, they could not continue said voyage without peril to their persons or health and were compelled to leave said barkentine by reason of such misconduct on the 28th day of March, 1869, and that the master refuses to pay their wages or any part thereof, and praying the usual process and monition against said barkentine, her boats, etc., and decree for the payment of their wages. Now, therefore, in pursuance of the warrant under the Seal of said Court, to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give public notice to all persons claiming said barkentine Jane Falkinburg, her boats, etc., or in any manner interested therein, that they be and appear before the said District Court, to be held in Portland on the 3d day of May, 1869, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, then and there to interpose their claims and make their allegations in that behalf.

HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!

W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha, so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

The undersigned who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 2, 1869.

An Incident in the History of "Constitutional" Democracy.

Again the country is favored with a little reminiscence of the days of Buchanan's patriotic administration. One of these incidents which continue to rise up in judgment against the Democratic party is brought prominently before the country by the transmission to the Senate of the correspondence between Secretary Cass and President Buchanan on the occasion of the withdrawal of the former from the Cabinet in December, 1860. The patriotic old Secretary of State demanded that measures should be taken at once to reinforce the forts at Charleston, to suppress the rising rebellion and to preserve the Union. Buchanan, who was completely under the control of the plotting traitors who formed the majority of his Cabinet, and who were using the influence and power which their official position gave them to organize the rebellion, refused to listen to the patriotic counsels of Cass, who promptly resigned and left the imbecile President alone with his traitorous advisers. The excuse which Buchanan gave to Cass for not taking measures to enforce the national authority was that his (Cass's) views were "not concurred in by the Cabinet, especially by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy." The Secretary of War was no other person than that highly esteemed Democrat John B. Floyd, who after disarming the Government and turning its military resources over to the rebels, went South and obtained a high rank in the rebel army and fought against the Union under Jeff. Davis as he had plotted against it under Buchanan. The Secretary of the Navy was old Yancey, a man who from first to last was a most willing tool in the hands of the conspirators, and who at their instigation scattered the navy to remote parts of the world where it could be of no use to the Government in any sudden emergency. These were the men to whom Buchanan listened; the men who did not "concur" in the demand of Secretary Cass that the authority of the Government should be enforced. These active, working traitors were of opinion that the Government had "no constitutional power" to stop them, and nearly the whole Democratic party chimed in with them in arguing against "coercion." And all through the war the same argument was continued. Truly that was a band of rare patriots who composed the last Democratic Administration! Is it any wonder that this party fails continually in its efforts to regain power? These things will be remembered against it long after it has perished as an organization.

The Credit System.

The credit system is one of long standing, but the man who invented it gave the world a thing which is mixed with a great deal of inconvenience and evil. He initiated a plan of [illegible] which works [illegible] good and great ill. But nobody knows how to abolish the system. To do this would perhaps be even more [illegible] than to get back, in this country, to specie payments. The credit system is an evil which perpetuates itself, and grows by what it feeds on. It rests with [illegible] weight upon both buyer and seller, while the consumer ultimately takes the load of both. How many men are there who carry this heavy burden all their lives and sink under it at last! It has been estimated that not more than one merchant in ten ever retires from business with a competency. The reason is that the credit system robs them of their money at the very time, perhaps, when they need it most. They trusted too far and too long, and a sudden financial collapse carried them under. The credit system encourages over trading, and that has ruined thousands. Among all classes there are more or less bad customers. The seller, if he sustains a loss, must make it up out of his business, by adding to the price of his goods, or in some other way. The good paymaster, under the credit system, therefore, often pays the debts of the bad. This is not justice, but the fact remains. Now if we could only have a strictly cash system, how much trouble would be saved to the world! How much less anxiety there would be! How few toilsome days and sleepless nights! What a happy world we should have! How much litigation, how much unpleasant feeling, how many disagreeable encounters would be saved! To be sure the lawyers might find some portion of their occupation gone, but they would probably obtain more congenial and agreeable employment. Every man would buy only what he wanted, and pay for it when he bought it. Extravagance would be a thing unknown. There would be less of sham and more of reality in life. Every man would pass for what he was worth, financially and otherwise, and not for what he was supposed to be. We don't imagine this state of things can be brought about, but we can't help thinking with a quaint writer that the millennium might be brought near to us if we would adopt the scriptural injunction and owe no man anything.

Those Dangerous Schools.

> Archbishop Blanchet, of Oregon, in a recent "pastoral letter," fulminated against the public school system that prevails in these United States of America. The Roman Catholic Archbishop considers the public schools as "dangerous institutions." He declares them to be "nurseries of vice" and "the prolific source of infidelity." They are "not only dangerous to morals, but they are also very dangerous to religion and faith." Waiving the question as to the influence of the public schools upon morals, we are prepared to admit that they are, in a certain sense, "very dangerous to religion and faith." They are undoubtedly hostile to all forms of religion that partake of that nature of superstition, and to all "faith" that is at war with reason and common sense. Whatever the American system of public schools prevail, it will be extremely difficult to make priestcraft a ruling power in the State. It is as idle for the Archbishop of Oregon to thunder against our public school system as it was for Pope Calixtus to anathematize that heretical comet, which in the fifteenth century, struck terror into the hearts of the faithful.

The above is from the San Francisco Chronicle. We have not seen the letter alluded to, but from a remark in another California journal we learn that it was published in the San Francisco Monitor. We have nothing to do with any religious, or rather with any sectarian, view of this question; but will say that we are most decidedly in favor of public schools. Of course Catholics, as well as all other religious sects, will adopt their own methods of education; but in this country there should be and will be a system of public education which, while eminently moral, will not be devoted to the propagation of any species of sectarianism.

China and India are the great reservoirs of silver. They have been absorbing it ever since the Western world entered into commercial relations with them. To these reservoirs there seems to be no bottom. Millions upon millions of silver have been poured in there, and have totally disappeared from the sight of civilized man.

Fare Across the Continent.

Whatever has a bearing upon immigration is of great interest to the Pacific slope. The time from the East to the West is shortly to be reduced to comparatively nothing; and if the railroad fares are brought down to reasonable rates every difficulty which has so long stood in the way of the development of the Pacific slope will be removed. Again, most of us desire that the rates of travel shall be such as will enable us to visit the early "home land." The Virginia (Nev.) Enterprise in a recent number remarks:

> The railroad rates of passage from New York to Chicago, a distance of near 1,000 miles, are about 2¼ cents per mile in greenbacks. They should not be in excess of that from Chicago to San Francisco. The distance from New York to San Francisco is about 3,000 miles, according to the calculations of the Bulletin. At 2¼ cents per mile, first class passage would cost but $82 50 in currency. If passengers can be profitably transported from New York to Chicago by rail at these rates, they can be taken thence to San Francisco on the same terms; aye, and cheaper, for that matter; for while the roads east of Omaha have been built by private enterprise, and must be expected to return a substantial annual interest on the cost of construction, the Union and Central Pacific Railroads, from Sacramento to the Missouri, are being built by the Government, and will not cost their incorporators and stockholders a single dollar over and above the amounts realized from their grants and subsidies. The Government has been generous with the people.

Small Notes.

The statement in the telegraphic dispatches that Charles Lafollet has been appointed Superintendent of Indian Affairs for Oregon is undoubtedly a mistake on the part of the news reporter. A. B. Meacham is Superintendent and Lafollet is Indian Agent.

The whirligig of time brings round strange results. The engine house in which John Brown was captured by Robert E. Lee has been presented by the Government, with other buildings, as a free gift to Storer College, an institution expressly designed for the education of colored men.

We see by the Eastern journals that after they recovered from their surprise about Grant's Cabinet most of them fell to praising it. The old way was for every disappointed aspirant for the Presidency to claim a place in the Cabinet as the price of his support; but Grant certainly proceeded on a better plan.

The appointment of Kohl as Collector of Customs at Alaska, which it is reported was brought about by the influence of the Oregon delegation, we regard as a great mistake. Kohl is one of the head men of the Alaska Fur Company, and the putting everything pertaining to the business of Alaska into their hands is about equivalent to giving the whole country.

A dispatch from San Francisco says: "The impression was obtained that there are a great many wild cat companies among recent White Pine incorporations." We should think so, says the Oakland Transcript, when companies are incorporated for $1,500,000, that have only a twenty foot shaft sunk, as exempt from silver indications as an iceberg; when companies representing $100,000,000 of capital have been organized in a district that does not employ 150 men, it does smell of wild-cat.

The Northern Pacific Railroad, remarks the Boston Post, will be completed from Lake Superior to the Pacific Ocean. The rich timber, mines and farming lands it will open have no general outlet now on either side. Yet, with all the advantages of inaccessibility, they yield one-third of the entire bullion produced in the United States, or twenty-one millions of dollars. This road will open to commerce a tier of future States on the north, whose demands and supplies will make themselves directly felt in competing with Russia for the trade of the north Pacific on the Asiatic shore.

They have some bold railroad financiers in Tennessee. Four of the companies owe the Government three millions of dollars for material furnished and interest on the debt. During the war these corporations used all of their influence to destroy the Government, and now the Legislature of that State is asking Congress that the four companies be released from the obligation. The New York Tribune says they have some tolerably good railroad financiers in New York, but none with quite so much cheek as that amounts to.

The Portland (Maine) Transcript has the following good thing: "Andrew Johnson is a great stickler for the Constitution, but we would like to know where he finds authority in it for parodying the Declaration of Independence, and inflicting a farewell address on the long-suffering American people! Think of Andrew Johnson playing the part of George Washington—'Moses' aping the Father of his country! It is the most impudent burlesque of the age. He actually accuses Congress of having robbed him of 'the prerogative of pardon.' Good Heavens, what rogue is left unpardoned by him!"

A letter from Panama says that the interest felt there by all classes in the proposed Isthmus canal is very considerable, and nearly all anxiously desire to see this great work accomplished. A native of Panama who has been trading with the Indians of Darien for a great many years, says that a route exists known but to two persons excepting the Indians who inhabit the country, which he claims is by far the shortest, most level, and best adapted for a canal that exists on the Isthmus. He states that Indians very frequently cross the Isthmus from ocean to ocean on foot in six hours.

The Herald edifies its readers with such stuff as this: "'Mack,' the well informed and reliable correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer, says repudiation is as popular among the Radicals at Washington as it is among the Democrats. One Radical member asserted that if the Democrats did not hurry up the Radicals would beat them on repudiation." Now in view of the fact that the "Radicals in Washington" have passed a bill declaring the bonds payable in gold, and that this bill was the first one that became a law by receiving the signature of President Grant, it is very clear that repudiation is "popular among the Radicals."

Notwithstanding the express provision in the Chinese treaty to the effect that nothing there contained shall be understood as conferring the right of becoming American citizens upon Chinamen, the Democratic partisan papers still keep up their lugubrious howling on the subject, insisting that the treaty and the Fifteenth Constitutional Amendment "are designed to make voters of Chinese as well as negroes." There is no more use of "discussing" with demagogical writers of this stripe, says the San Francisco Chronicle, than there would be of arguing with a footpad. Mr. Midshipman Easy is represented by his biographer as having been desirous of "arguing the point" with an infuriated bull which had hunted him into a tree. The disputatious Midshipman would have had just as fair a show for making an impression upon the bull by his logic as a sensible man would of silencing the chaotic gabble of the Call and Examiner in regard to Chinese suffrage by an appeal to reason and argument.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

Washington News.

NEW YORK, April 1.—The Alaska, from Aspinwall, has arrived.

A Washington special says that the President has decided on the removal of General Stoneman from the command of the Department of Virginia, and necessary orders will be issued soon. Stoneman's course in political matters in Virginia is said to be the cause of his removal.

The Tribune's special says the Ku Klux at Greenville, Alabama, yesterday attempted the murder of G. O. Gardiner, Probate Judge of Butler county. He was shot while sitting near a window. The wound is thought to be fatal.

The Times says that revelations before the Court of Justice develop the most monstrous frauds in Pacific railroad matters. The Vice President of the Union Pacific, when forced to testify, admitted that construction contracts had been made at rates varying from $42,000 to $96,000 per mile—prices notoriously three times the actual cost of construction. It appears they are calculated with great exactness to strip the company as such of every penny of its funds so that its property will soon be sold under foreclosure of its first mortgage bonds, leaving the United States in the lurch for its paltry loans from thirty to fifty millions of dollars.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Messrs. Sargent, Stewart and Nye are urging Frank G. Gilbert for Postal Agent.

Mr. Boutwell is disinclined to abolish the cording and sealing regulations.

CHICAGO, April 1.—The Tribune's special says General Sherman yesterday relieved Stoneman from command in Virginia, which was turned over to the next officer in rank, who is also ordered to reinstate Gov. Wells.

Bids for Great Spring mail lettings will be opened to-day. About 2,000 routes are to be let and about 15,000 bids have been received.

The German residents of Washington entertained Carl Schurz with a dinner yesterday.

The following is the second section of the Tenure of Office bill as amended, the 1st section of the Senate's amendment being left untouched: "That during any recess of the Senate, the President is hereby empowered, in his discretion, to suspend any civil officer appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, except Judges of the United States Courts, until the end of the next session of the Senate, and to designate some capable person subject to be removed in his discretion by the designated person to perform the duties of such suspended officer. In the meantime such persons so designated, shall take the oaths and give the bonds required by law to be taken and given by such suspended officer, and shall, during the time he performed his duties be entitled to the salary and emoluments of such office; no part of which shall belong to the officer suspended, and it shall be the duty of the President, within thirty days after the commencement of every session of the Senate, except for any office which, in his opinion, ought not to be filled, to nominate persons to fill all vacancies in offices which exist, whether temporarily filled or not, and so place in all officers suspended; and if the Senate, during such session, shall refuse to advise or consent to an appointment in place of any suspended officer, then and not otherwise, the President shall nominate another person as soon as practicable to his succession for said office."

NEW YORK, April 1.—Best opinions relative to the Tenure bill hold that removals during the session of Congress are completed when the Senate confirms the successor, but during a recess the President may suspend appointing a temporary successor, and when the Senate meet, the President nominates him or some one else for confirmation, and if the Senate fails to confirm the vacancy occurs, which the President may fill temporarily, but a suspended officer is never restored unless the President renominates him.

West Indies.

HAVANA, March 31.—The British Consul has sent the gunboat Heron to the Caribbean Sea, where the ship Jeff Davis was captured by a Spanish cruiser. The volunteers took two Cuban passengers from the Davis and immediately shot them. The captain and crew were thrown into jail.

The British Consul expects to have a British fleet soon cruising among the Bahamas.

Two schooners and two steamers loaded with men and arms landed at Cape Maysi.

Advices from Santiago to the 22d report that the steamer Cricket and two schooners landed an expedition on the northern shore on the 20th. The insurgents were very active in that vicinity.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—A severe shock of an earthquake occured this evening, at forty-five minutes past five. No damage known to have resulted from it.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—The banquet of the City Guard, in the new California Theatre, last night, was one of the finest affairs ever witnessed on this coast.

The revenue cutter Wyanda, under the command of Lieutenant Bailey, left here last night for a cruise in search of a shoal off the coast line between Monterey and the Farralones.

A hostler employed in a large livery stable was arrested to day, charged with assault and battery on a gentleman who, presuming upon the privileges of All Fool's Day, ordered a horse and buggy for the proprietor of the stable.

Yesterday the following companies filed certificates of incorporation: West California Mining Company, capital, $160,000; Buckline Silver Mining Co., $140,000; Grand Trunk Tunnel & Mining Co., $500,000.

Mining stocks continue weak, probably owing to the closeness of the money markets.

Sailed—March 31st, U. S. Revenue Cutter Wyanda, Sitka via Victoria.

Stockton Dispatch.

STOCKTON, April 1.—At five minutes past 6 o'clock this evening, quite a heavy shock of an earthquake was felt in this city. The shocks continued for about fifteen seconds. No damage was done at Livermore tunnel on the Western Pacific Railroad. The shock was quite severe, and the men working in the tunnel are said to have made very quick time in getting in the open air.

Mr. Jas. Talbot, late of Murphy's camp, shipped from this place to day, the necessary apparatus for a soda water factory that he is about to open at Hamilton, White Pine.

FROM THE NORTH.

SEATTLE, April 1.—There is a petition in circulation to have the sentence of Rowland, the murderer of Craig, commuted to imprisonment for life.

The Territorial University in this city, is to be reopened on Monday next.

On the 28th ult. the barks Olympus, Milan and Vernon, and brig Tanner, put back and anchored in Port Towsend harbor, owing to stormy head winds in the Straits. They all sailed again on the following day.

VANCOUVER, April 1.—Seymour, who it is supposed, attempted to commit burglary and murder in the Capitol Saloon, Vancouver, on the night of the 30th, was arrested this P. M. about three miles up the Columbia river from Vancouver.

The case of small pox is nearly well. No fresh cases reported.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, April 1.—The Royal Commissioners appointed to inquire into the subject recommend a law recognizing naturalization abroad as alienating British subjects from their allegiance to England. It also proposes the total abolition of alien disabilities to hold landed property.

The Bank of England rate has been advanced one per cent.

The country near Capetown, Africa, 460 miles by 50 miles, has been burned. A few of the natives perished.

NEVADA.

VIRGINIA, April 1.—The rates of telegraphing between this city, San Francisco and intermediate points, was to day reduced by the Western Union Telegraph Company to 25 cents for ten words, and 10 cents for each additional five words.

This brings telegraphing within the reach of the poorest, and enables all to avail themselves of the use of this means of communication, and will test the soundness of the oft-repeated argument of complaints against high tariffs, that low rates would largely increase business.

Business, though quiet, shows an improving aspect.

The Pacific Union Express Co. shipped seven bars bullion last night, valued at $5,787 06. No report of other shipments.

Two new cases of small pox reported yesterday.

The weather is again pleasant and mild.

The West.

The Western Union Telegraph is to be extended to Fort Benton.

A Lodge of Good Templars will be organized in Blackfoot City.

The Columbia Fire Company at Olympia will build a Hall costing $4,000.

A mule train lately loaded at Salt Lake with several tons of mail matter for Montana.

Yesler's new saw mill at Seattle will be running in a short time. The Catholic church at the same place is progressing rapidly toward completion.

The Puyallup river, a stream which enters Puget Sound below Steilacoom, is to be cleared of obstructions so that it can be navigated for twenty miles.

A revival has been going on for some time in the Methodist Church at Olympia, Rev. I. D. Driver in charge. A large number have united with the Church.

Montana claims the richest silver mines known. Flint Creek rock assays 80 per cent pure silver. Forty tons of rock from the "Poor Man's Joy," yielded $14,700.

Col. Eddy, Chief Quartermaster's Department of Columbia, is ordered to Atlanta, (Ga.) and Col. Hodges, Chief Quartermaster's Department of California, is ordered to Chicago.

According to the "Montana Statistical Almanac for 1869," there are thirty four quartz mills in that Territory, with an aggregate of 476 stamps. Only eighteen of these mills are now running.

Says the Sacramento Bee: "It is folly for our citizens to shut their eyes to the fact that small pox continues in our midst an unconquered enemy—in fact, that its attacks are becoming more and more frequent."

The Pacific, a religious journal of San Francisco, thinks that the "young woman" has received enough attention to induce her to mend her ways, and proposes to take up the young man; particularly lamenting that he is not a marrying man.

A few men in San Francisco own the bulk of all the cattle in California. Slowly but surely for years have they been monopolizing this traffic, while others have neglected it, until within their "ring" is centered the whole power and control of the cattle market.

According to the Salt Lake Reporter, the saints are not good butter makers. The paper says: To-day in this city, situated in the midst of a large agricultural district, there is not a pound of good butter to be bought at any price, and very little of any other kind.

The Alta says California imports about thirty thousand cases of sparkling wine annually, most of it directly from France. The cost to the importers here range from $8 to $30 per dozen, and the average is over $12, so that California and her neighbors spend at least $400,000 annually for sparkling wine.

The White Pine News of the 13th March, contained no less than six notices, cautioning an eager public against purchasing certain properties, consisting of one spring of water, two mines, a parcel of town lots, and two tracts of land, in and about Treasure City and Shermantown. This is but a foretaste of what is to come. Good place for lawyers.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION has filled the various offices; so have BARMAN BROS. filled their spacious store, corner Front and Morrison Streets, with the late Styles of Merchant Tailoring Goods, consisting of French Cassimeres, Beaver, Broadcloths and all kinds of Vestings, also a fine Stock of Ready Made Clothing, and Gents' Furnishing Goods, which they are enabled to sell lower than any other House in their city, as their Mr Isaac Barman is constantly in the San Francisco market, purchasing at the most advantageous prices, of which their customers always have the benefit. Go and see them—no trouble to show goods.

IN HOC SIGNO VINCES.—Quick sales and small profits. 'By this sign we shall conquer" all opposition at THE OREGON DISPENSARY. The same inscription might be properly affixed to another sign which is the symbol of hundreds of successful battles with the BODILY AILMENTS of our citizens at less costs than formerly. All purchase Drugs, Medicines, Perfumeries, etc., etc., at the CHEAPEST and BEST Drug Store in Portland, and receive Medical and Surgical attention gratuitously.

LORYEA & KALLENBERG,
DR. J. A. CHAPMAN, 73 First street.
Consulting Physician and Surgeon.

GREAT EXCITEMENT.—The constant buzz of activity at KOHN & FISHEL'S yesterday, was occasioned by the receipt and opening of a very large and complete stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods—Spring Styles—purchased and sent up from San Francisco, by Mr Fishel, who is acknowledged to be one of the best judges of that line of goods, doing business in this city. Call and see the Spring Styles.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO MARCH 31.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—In the Senate a House concurrent resolution came up to adjourn on the 6th of April. A motion to table the resolution was lost and a discussion ensued.

Fessenden, Chairman of the Committee on appropriations, said it would be impossible to finish the pending business by that time. The Senate should not fix a day for adjournment until the Indian appropriation bill is disposed of.

Sumner desired that Mississippi and Texas should be legislated for before adjourning. After considerable further discussion, Hamlin moved to amend so as to fix on April 10th for final adjournment. At the expiration of the morning hour the resolution went over and the Indian appropriation bill came up. After discussion the bill was informally laid aside.

Trumbull reported from the committee of conference on the tenure of-office act. He explained the provisions of the substitute agreed on by the committee. The bill, as passed by the Senate, required a direct vote in refusing to confirm a new in order to reinstate an old officer. The change made by committee provides that a suspended officer may be reinstated at the end of the next session of the Senate, unless his successor has been confirmed. After brief remarks by Thurman, the report of the committee was agreed to, 42 to 8. The following voted no: Bayard, Casserley, Davis, McCreery, Sprague, Stockton, Thurman and Vickers. Then Senate then went into executive session and soon after adjourned.

In the House a resolution was adopted that the Ways and Means Committee reconsider the propriety of renewing and enforcing the direct tax in the late rebel States. A number of bills were reported and referred.

The House proceeded to consider the bill for the organization of a provisional Government in Mississippi. Farnsworth offered a substitute, proposing the resubmission to the people of Mississippi of the constitution already framed, with separate votes on some of its objectionable features. The bill was reported from the committee authorizing the convention to re-assemble in April and form a provisional government.

The discussion was interrupted by Butler, who reported from the conference committee on the tenure-of-office bill, an abstract of which report is already telegraphed. Bingham explained the report. He said it would be acceptable to the Republican party and the country generally. Davis suggested that the whole thing was yielded to the Senate in leaving the first section of the Senate amendment untouched, which forbids removals without the consent of the Senate. Butler explained the report. He said everything was stricken out which gives the Senate power to reinstate a suspended officer. He thought the section on removal and reinstatement effectually repealed the tenure-of-office act. He did not think it altered the powers of the President from what he had under the constitution. Banks understood the effect of the substitute reported by the committee to be that if the President removed an officer, calling it removal, the Senate's refusal to confirm reinstated the removed officer, but if he called it suspension and the Senate refused to confirm, it did not destroy the office. The President could make another nomination.

Butler said he had the same power he now has under the Constitution.

Banks—"Then suspension is a synonym for removal."

Butler—"Yes."

The debate was continued by Niblack, Woods and others.

Poland opposed the report as depriving the Senate of its power to check the President in the matter of appointments.

Dawes desired more time for consideration and suggested that the matter go over till to-morrow.

Hoar opposed the report as putting it in the power of the Senate to compel the President to reinstate removed officers or not fill the offices at all.

Logan preferred repeal, but he regarded the report as amounting to the same thing in a round about way.

Butler moved the previous question, which was seconded—98 to 51. The report was agreed to—107 to 67.

Woodward introduced a bill relating to questionable acts of Congress. Referred.

Dawes reported the deficiency bill which was made the special order for two o'clock to-morrow.

Butler reported a bill to provide for a general system of removal of political disabilities.

The House resumed the consideration of the Mississippi bill. Dawes favored postponement till the next session. Without disposing of the bill, the Senate joint resolution regulating the pay of enlisted men was passed and the House adjourned.

Washington News.

NEW YORK, March 31.—The Congressional Conference Committee agreed to their report on the tenure of office bill.

The conference report repeals the first two sections of the original act. The first section of the Senate bill stands. The second section empowers the President, during the recess of Congress, to suspend any officer except Judges, till the end of the next session, and to appoint a new incumbent, subject to removal at his discretion, who shall fulfill the duties and enjoy the emoluments of the office while serving. The President, within thirty days after the Senate assembles, shall nominate, to fill all vacancies, whether of those temporarily filled or not. The effect of the conference report is to retain the provision securing the Senate's consent to removal, but it deprives the Senate of the power to reinstate suspended officers.

Johnson introduced, and the House has passed, a bill to transfer Sierra county to the Marysville land district and Mendocino to San Francisco.

J. M. Billings has been nominated as Post master for Santa Clara.

The House, after three o'clock, agreed to the conference report—106 to 67, the Democrats all against.

The following nominations were made to day: Emil Hechter, as Consular Agent at Bremen; A. Arnold, as Receiver of Public Moneys at Central City, Colorado; Postmasters, J. M. Billings, Santa Clara, California, and Thos E. McClelland, at Cheyenne.

The President was quite well to day. He received callers, among whom was Senator Cole.

Among the nominees to be made for Justices of the Peace of the District, will be one colored man.

Attorney General Hoar made his first argument in court to-day.

The President has recognized E. G. Squires as Consul General for Honduras, in the new government.

The Senate has confirmed Chas. Lafollette as Superintendent of Indian affairs in Oregon.—[This is an obvious error.—ED. OREGONIAN.]

It appears that George A. Halsey, who recently consented to accept the appointment as Register of the Treasury, cannot be appointed, owing to the opinion of Attorney General Hoar, who says that Hasley has been a manufacturer and is therefore precluded from being appointed by the act establishing the Treasury Department.

The House Committee on Pacific railroads have commenced the investigation of the charges made by Representative Bingham in relation to the issuing of bonds to the Central Pacific Company. Caleb Cushing and William E. Chandler have appeared in behalf of the Union and S. E. Chittenden for the Central Commissioners. C. P. Huntington, Vice President of the Central, was also present. After the adoption of a resolution calling on the proper department for copies of documents to be submitted in evidence, and listening to the arguments of Chandler, reviewing the laws on the subject under discussion, and the progress of the road, and reiterating the charges of the resolution, the Committee adjourned to to-morrow, when the Secretaries of the Treasury and Interior will be present with the necessary maps and papers.

Orders have been issued by Grant for unlimited leave of absence for thirty men of each company of all the infantry regiments of the army.

NEW YORK, March 31.—A Washington special says Boutwell has concluded to dismiss all special agents of the Treasury Bureaus. He does not know which are honest and which are not. It is believed the investigation after the dismissal will prove the ones that are really worthy.

Freshets in New York

ALBANY, March 31.—The freshet continues. The trains on the Hudson river and New York Central roads are all delayed. Only one track is in use, and that is under water in places. Accounts from various points report great damage to property.

From Cuba.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Advices from Cuba from Patriot sources state that Cespedes has responded to Dulce's declaration of war to the knife by a decree that all the Spanish volunteers taken hereafter shall be immediately put to death.

Speaking German Under Difficulties.

The Baden-Baden correspondent of an Eastern exchange has the following:

It is highly important that those who contemplate taking a European tour should acquire some knowledge of French, and if possible German, also. A person never feels so completely lost as, when in a vast crowd of people, there is no one with whom he is able to speak. But ennui is not the extent of his misfortunes. A want of a knowledge of these continental languages often cause an extreme inconvenience. Nor must the knowledge be too slight.

"A little German is a dangerous thing," you know. It has also proved a very ludicrous thing upon an occasion that I am about to relate. An American and his family arriving in Baden, had taken apartments in a private house, and had arranged with a neighboring restaurant to have their meals brought to their rooms. A very charming little waiter girl, speaking German only, had been assigned to the duty of serving the table. Now, Americanus had but a slight knowledge of the German language, but dire necessity compelled that he should appear to understand, and try to talk at all events, with the waiter girl, as it was evident that nothing could be served that was not ordered in German. Americanus hastened, for a pocket dictionary, to learn the words representing, in German, beefsteak, fried potatoes, coffee, chicken fricasee, etc., and the adjectives, adverbs and prepositions required to make suitable sentences to convey to a German understanding the preferences of an American stomach.

This interesting study having been pursued diligently for several days, and with apparent success, and many of the words having become quite familiar to the tongue and ear, a gentle rap was heard at the door. Already the shades of evening had settled upon the face of nature, and objects were not so easily discernible as might have been desired. But the door was opened, and in stepped a fair maiden, and began, after a very polite courtesy a very rapid speech in German, the most of which was worse than Greek to Americans. But he remained composed, perfectly conscious that the large collection of German words that he had so recently learned would not fail him in this hour of trial and emergency. He therefore said, "Ja, ja," as if all were perfectly well understood.

Now, Americanus supposed that his fair visitor was the daughter of the restaurant man, and that she come to ask him what he wanted for his breakfast. He heard several words that sounded quite familiar, and he determined to guess at the rest. "Yes, I understand her, she is the girl from the restaurant," said Americanus to his lady, who listened, but knew nothing of what was said. The supposed waiter-girl having finished, Americanus summoned up his lately acquired German words, and began, in bad German, of course: "Yes, I am glad you have come. I want a beefsteak, broiled, not too rare, and potatoes also, fried, a cup of coffee," etc., etc. "Bring them warm. Heat your plates."

The fair (supposed) waiter looked confused and began to put in a word, as if not exactly coinciding with the views of Americanus in reference to a hot breakfast. But Americanus pressed the point still further, and again repeated, in more confident German accent, the whole list of things desired for a breakfast for himself and family. The girl appeared not to understand. She ventured to say, so as to be understood: "I do not understand you, sir." That was perplexing. Americanus became impatient, and said to his lady in English: "How stupid these servants are! She don't appear to understand German even. I will try again." So he pressed the point and insisted on "broiled beefsteak, fried potatoes, and a cup of coffee." The emphatic manner in which this last was put seemed to convince the fair waiter of something, as she immediately bowed herself out, closing the door after her with some impatience.

"Well," said Americanus to his lady, "I think she understands me at last. I felt confident that I could command enough German to order a breakfast in that language."

Next morning the veritable waiter-girl came with breakfast. "But how is this? Veal cutlet for two! Potatoes boiled! Tea! Oh, horrors! Who ever heard of such a thing? Tea for a man's breakfast! It is not fit for a sick woman!" Americanus was amazed that his order for breakfast should have so been wofully misunderstood, or disregarded. He asked the waiter-girl if she did not understand him, when she came last night to take his order. She was confused. Said she had not taken the order! "Not here last night?" "Nein!" "Ah, here is another 'Comedy of Errors.' There are two Dromios!"

"This one is indeed the waiter-girl from the restaurant, but who is the other Miss Dromio?" That was the question that caused Americanus increased anxiety and perplexity. But imagine his overwhelming chargin and mortification, when he learned that the fair visitor of the evening previous was an accomplished daughter of his host. She had called to present her compliments to the American gentleman and his lady, and to inform them that there would be a musical entertainment at the Conversation House that evening, and to offer, if they desired to go to attend them thither, as they were strangers and might not know the way.

What could be more perplexing, what more annoying? Add to all this the inability of Americanus to offer an apology—he could not speak German sufficiently to do so. He therefore avoided the fair damsel. He never looked into her face again. So much for not knowing well the language of the country in which one is sojourning. Americanus, in relating this incident to his home friends, tells another in which the laugh was at the expense of his hostess, who, endeavoring to speak English, so as to be the better understood, stumbled upon some expressions that it would be improper to reproduce in the columns of a newspaper. Suffice it to say that he could not have acceded to his hostess's suggestion without a wide departure from that upright course of conduct which is most becoming in a married man.

A writer in the Overland Monthly says that when he was young, the common way of spelling the word "gizzard" was "g-i-z-zard, giz—izzard-a-r-d—gizzard. Many of our readers may have a similar recollection.

Curious History of a Mad-Stone.

The Memphis Avalanche has the following article:

For the first time in our life we saw yesterday a genuine mad-stone, and heard its history from the owner, who inherited it from his father. The fortunate [illegible] is Col. B. Led Milam, of Waterford, Marshall county, Mississippi. Colonel Milam is a prominent citizen of his county, and his [illegible] set at rest any doubts which we may have had about the efficacy of mad-stone in curing the bites of mad dogs, cats, snakes, spiders, or other venomous animals or insects. Col. Lee Milam is a native of Madison county, North Alabama, from whence he removed in 1835. The family came from Virginia; and the Colonel inherits also his middle name, being a second cousin of General Robert E. Lee. The mad-stone in his possession is about the size of hen's egg; as heavy as so much brick, and rather more porous, and is of a light clayish color.

One end of it is flat, as if it had been sawed off, and a grain runs through the stone from end to end, as if it had in some former age, been so much wood or bone. About fifty years ago this stone was split in three or four pieces; but was carefully fastened together with a wire, which still performs its [illegible]. The stone was brought from China in 1810, by Dr. Barker. The doctor died in a few years, and the stone was sold at public sale among his other property. Mr. Jarvis Milam, the Colonel's father, was the purchaser, and at his death he willed the stone to the present owner, with the condition that all the family should have the use of it as often as necessary, free of charge. As to its virtues, Col. Lee Milam states that it has been applied with success in over one thousand [illegible], and has only failed in two, and in those the parts affected could not be successfully reached. He has used it himself over two hundred and fifty times.

When applied it adheres as if by suction, and usually remains on ten or twelve hours. When the poison is all extracted the stone falls off. During the process a very offensive stench fills the room, making the air sickening in the extreme. The stone is then [illegible] in warm water from twenty-four to thirty-six hours, when it becomes cleansed and is again ready for use. Colonel Milam assures us that he can cure any case of dog, snake, or other bite, where madness or dissolution has not actually set in. Cures have been effected even as long as two weeks after the bite. Last week the stone was used successfully in several cases. It is known for many leagues around, and the people come from far and near to be healed. Colonel Milam has been offered $5,000 for this wonderful stone, but always refused to entertain the proposition. He said playfully yesterday that he might sell it for $10,000, if the buyer would promise to always allow him the use of it. Great is mad-stone. We are converted. What says the medical world?

Ancient and Modern Engineering.

A recent lecturer before the American Institute gives some interesting facts which we think worth while to condense. He says that the great Pyramid of Cheops covers 700 feet square, and contains 6,500,000 tons of stone. It is composed of soft limestone from the opposite of the Nile, but some of the blocks were brought 100 miles. The smaller stones were hauled by oxen, on sledges, and the remains of rude wooden tram-ways, or railroad still exist. The big stones were hauled by men; it required 1,000 men to haul a block of 300 tons, and they worked in concert to the sound of music. One party of 2,000 men worked three years in transporting a 700 ton stone 100 miles. The builders had no scaffolding, but as fast as they raised the structure they piled up dirt, making an incline plane up which they dragged the huge blocks. When necessary to raise their scaffolding, they piled up more dirt, and so kept on until the Pyramid was completed, 450 feet high, and then the dirt scaffolding was carried away. This vast embankment must have required 50,000,000 tons of earth. The whole work required 500,000 men for 30 years, and at the present value of labor in that country, would have cost $5,000,000,000.

The lecturer goes on to say that a modern engineer would construct such a work for $100,000,000, and with a tithe of the men. He would quarry the stone by steam-drills, load them with steam-cranes, transport them on the Nile with steam-vessels, and on land with locomotives. Instead of the 50,000,000 tons of earthen embankments costing $10,000,000, he would apply a few hoisting machines, and with a score or two of men, would deliver the stone to the hands of the masons, as fast as they could lay them.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.

It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

E. B. MOORE,	NATHANIEL BELL,
A. L. WALLACE,	G. R. WARD,
Mrs. MONTGOMERY,	JOHN M. HOLLOWAY,
W. D. PORTER,	ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others in that vicinity.

Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.

Prepared by SMITH & ROACH,

It is thoroughly identified with this city and State and neighboring Territories, where the number of its readers and its influence are constantly increasing.

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles, it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST, but to everything of moment to the great

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, [illegible]ted and disfigured faces and their broken-down [illegible] tions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unli[illegible] producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz. Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confusion of ideas, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give Five Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are [illegible] under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to every patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and [illegible], who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and [illegible] too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tin[smiths], shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid [imposi]tion is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.
